"Stepping out" is a new and effective euphemism in the divorce court. John Preston Knox of San Francisco told the judge he wanted a divorce "because my wife wants to step out." She wrote him that he was too slow, he said, and did her "stepping out" with R. C. Diehl, a professional automobile racer, much less slow than the husband. The "stepping out" being proved the husband got the divorce.

Lady Cathcart, thanks to a habeas corpus writ, stays with us, and the Aquitania sailed for Europe Saturday with one empty cabin that Secretary Davis had engaged to deport the English woman whose "moral past" offends our high standards.

That cabin in the Aquitania is interesting. The lady did not pay for it, as she was to be sent away against her will. Did Uncle Sam pay for it, and if so, did he engage a private cabin in the Aquitania, first-class, because the lady accused of immorality had a British title?

Many mothers with children, with no past objectionable to our national purity, are deported day after day from Ellis island in the steerage.

ONE MAN SLAIN, THREE WOUNDED BY 'MAD SNIPER' IN NEW YORK

Police Believe Man is Emulating Omaha Maniac.

EAST SIDE CRIME

Subway Employee, Shot From Ambush, May Die.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—New York today developed a "mad sniper" and his toll thus far is one dead and three wounded.

Police believe that some person reading of the Omaha "mad sniper," who killed two and fired on scores, is emulating the western maniac.

"Happy Jimmy" Barnstony, 35, was shot and killed. His companion, Robert Tannon, 28, was shot in the back.

Two other men were brought to hospitals after being mysteriously shot.

All the shootings took place on the East Side. Detectives believe that some madman started uptown and continued down First and Second avenues, taking pot shots as he went.

No witnesses were found who heard the sound of firearms at the time the men fell and it is believed that, like the Omaha killer, New York's "mad sniper" has mounted a silencer on his weapon.

Just as detectives were investigating the third mysterious shooting, Frank Carr, 29, a subway employee, stumbled into Bellevue hospital with two bullets in his back and side.

He said somebody had fired out of the darkness and he was only aware of the flashes. He is not expected to live.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 23.—John Jiborno, 47, is dead today, a suicide, while his wife and four children slept in an adjoining room.

SLAYER OF HUSBANDS FEEBLE MINDED, SAYS STATE HOSPITAL CHIEF

Dr. Charles H. Clark, Superintendent of Lima Institution, to Which Self-confessed Poisoner of Seventh and Eighth Spouses Was Committed. Asserts Woman Has no Active Mental Trouble.

SIX-TIME WIDOW, HOWEVER, HAS MENTALITY OF CHILD, HE CLAIMS

Feminine "Bluebeard" Will Not be Returned to Columbiana County for Trial on Charge of Killing Itinerant Pastor Unless Writ of Habeas Corpus is Issued by Court in Declaration.

Mrs. Laura E. Christy, 48, East Liverpool, self-confessed slayer of two of her eight husbands during her 30-year matrimonial career, has no active mental trouble, but is feeble minded, it was declared today by Dr. Charles H. Clark, superintendent of the State Hospital for Criminal Insane at Lima, where the woman was committed on Jan. 21, by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, of Lisbon.

Dr. Clark's statement followed a mental examination of the woman, who was adjudged insane by two East Liverpool physicians at Lisbon on January 20, a week after her arrest here on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of Rev. William Christy, 56, brigadier-general of the United Christian Missionary Society of the United States.

"I made a thorough examination of the woman, traced her history, checked up the story of her marriages and gave her an intelligence test, and I found that she has no active mental disorder, but she is feeble minded," said Dr. Clark.

"She has the mentality of a child between 9 and 10 years of age." She is feeble minded now and probably will be until she dies.

Will Remain in Hospital. Christy, alleged arsenic poison victim, died in the City hospital on January 12, nine days after the woman became his bride in a ceremony at Beaver, Pa.

Mrs. Christy, according to the police also confessed while a prisoner in the county jail at Lisbon, that she administered poison to her seventh husband, John Ebert, 50, Newell, W. Va., pottery worker, who died on Nov. 7, last, as well as to Christy, whom she married less than two months after she became a widow for the fifth time.

Four other husbands of the woman also died suddenly, police say.

Despite Dr. Clark's report, Mrs. Christy will not be sent back to Columbiana county for trial on a first degree murder charge in connection with the death of Christy, unless a writ of habeas corpus is issued by the physician said.

"I will not report her," the hospital superintendent declared. "She will remain at Lima until a writ is issued by a common pleas judge."

News to County Officials. The new turn in the case was news to Columbiana county officials.

"I have heard nothing about it," Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes said.

WELLSVILLE HAS HIGHEST CITY TAX RATE IN STATE; COLUMBIANA COUNTY'S RE-APPRAISEMENT OF REAL ESTATE, MADE IN 1924, COST $62,000

Wellsville has the highest city tax rate in the state, it was revealed today in figures made public in the fifteenth annual report of the Ohio state tax commission.

The current tax rate for 1924 upon which taxes were based for collections made in 1925 for the city of Wellsville was 29.29. The rate for the preceding year was 28.40, while the levy for 1925 upon which payments are being made this year is 28.70.

While Wellsville paid the highest city tax rate, it was by no means as unfortunate as some of the other taxing districts of the state, the report shows. The village of Crooksville, Perry county, had a rate of 28.60 mills in 1924. The highest tax was 33.80, paid by the Crooksville school district.

The highest average rate, 26.806 mills, is accredited to Perry county.

Findlay, with 15.60 mills, has the lowest city rate, while the lowest village rate, eight mills, is paid by Beechwood, Cuyahoga county.

Reappraisement Expenses. Cost of Columbiana county's reappraisement of real estate, made in 1924, was $62,000, the tax commission's report shows. The cost of similar work in Cuyahoga county, in which the city of Cleveland is located, was $129,000. In Lucas county, which includes the city of Toledo, the reappraisal cost was $47,500, which is $15,500 less than in Columbiana county; in Jefferson county the cost was $47,566.48; in Franklin county, $189,000, and in Montgomery county, $148,000.

Property owned and controlled by public utilities in Columbiana county decreased $337,940 in valuation with the 1924 reappraisement. Increases were shown in the valuation of railroads, street railways, electric light companies, water works companies, express companies, while decreases were made for the properties of natural gas, pipe line, telegraph and telephone companies.

Valuation of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad company's holdings in the county increased from $7,803,250 in 1923 to $7,994,740 in 1924, a jump of $191,390. Properties of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago and the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western Railroad companies also increased.

Valuation of Public Utilities. Properties of The Steubenville East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction decreased from $879,940 in 1923 to $877,640 in 1924.

Value of the Newell Street Railway and Bridge company, for that part of its system within East Liverpool was $37,030, or no change from the previous year.

Valuation of the Youngstown & Ohio River railroad in 1924 was $1,837,990 and in 1923 $1,853,680, a decrease of $15,690.

The Youngstown & Suburban railroad from Youngstown to Leetonia had a valuation of $140,340 placed upon its property in 1924 as compared with $146,400 in the previous year.

The biggest decrease in public utility valuations was that of the Manufacturers' Light & Heat company, which was reduced from $1,812,180 in 1923 to $685,430 in 1924 a slash of $1,126,750.

The Natural Gas company of West Virginia which at that time served north county communities was given a decrease of $107,420. The total reduction in the valuation of natural gas companies was $1,233,720.

Six electric light companies operating in this county had increased valuations placed on their property in the reappraisement. The Ohio Power company's assessment price was raised from $707,380 to $714,880.

Telephone Company Figures. The Mahoning Valley Water company is the only privately-owned water company having consumers in property was increased from $15,340 this county. The valuation of this to $17,440.

Properties of the three Columbiana county pipe line companies were decreased $216,590. The American Railway Express company's reappraisal was $14,490 in 1924 and $12,700 in 1923.

Western Union Telegraph company holdings decreased from $59,330 to $58,390.

The Ohio Bell Telephone company had property valued at $765,790 in 1923 and $713,910 in 1924, a decrease of $51,880 in valuation. Decreases were also shown in the properties of the Barghols, Damascas, North George.

WHITE HOUSE TELEGRAPH KEY IS SOLID GOLD

President Uses Famous Button to Open Conventions.

BASE OF MARBLE

Instrument is Studded With Score of Nuggets.

WASHINGTON.—Newspaper dispatches have woven so much fame around the little "button" that the president pushes when he sets big conventions and expositions in motion, hundreds of miles away, that out-of-town sight-seers to the White House have demanded open inspection of the proverbial object.

They have revealed that the "button" is a telegraph key, but a mighty splendid telegraph key. Except for the point of contact, the entire instrument is solid gold, mounted on a slab of Alaskan marble and studded with a score of gold nuggets—the first that came out of the Klondike when gold was struck there.

This famous instrument had served since 1909 as the presidential point of electrical contact when he "starts things going."

Its First Use.
The key was presented to President Taft by George W. Carmack, discoverer of gold in Alaska, and was originally used to open the famous Alaskan-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle, June 1, 1909. This ceremony was performed in the East room of the White House before one of the most distinguished audiences ever assembled there.

Four presidents and as many first ladies of the land have since used the key in opening some of the epoch-making events of the last fifteen years. Edward Smithers, chief telegrapher of the White House, is the guardian of the instrument, having been given it by President Taft. Whenever there is an important "button pushing" at the White House, Smithers uncovers the key and lends it for service.

The most famous incident in which the key has served was that on October 10, 1913, when President Wilson, touching it in the East room of the White House, blew up the Panama Canal, virtually completing the ten years work of American engineers in making the first ship connection between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Used by Wilson.
Only President Wilson and Smithers were present on this occasion, despite the tremendous significance of the event throughout the world.

A year and a half later, on January 1, 1915, President Wilson arose from bed at 3 o'clock in the morning, went down stairs alone, and pressed the golden key to open the Panama-California Exposition in San Diego. Two months later, on February 20, 1915, he opened the Panama-Pacific Exposition in the same manner.

The most notable part the key has played since was on September 27, 1924, when President Coolidge opened the Skagit Hydro Electric Plant at Seattle.

Mrs. Coolidge has used the key several times, twice during the past year—to open the Women's World's Fair in Chicago on April 18, 1925, and to open the charity bazaar of the Lenox Neighborhood Association at Grand Central Palace, New York, on December 12.

New Cold Storage Plans Makes Possible Rare Fruit Shipments

LIVERPOOL, England.—Discovery of a new method of cold storage and preservation of fruit which is expected to supersede cold storage and make possible the importation of rare fruits, is announced by Professor John McLean Thompson, professor of botany at Liverpool university.

By means of a simple apparatus, Professor Thompson's method may be said to put fruit to sleep. The air in the room in which the fruit is stored is kept at a steady temperature and humidity, with the result that the fruit goes to sleep and does not deteriorate.

It is hoped to be able to adopt the method to ship's holds.

Mae Murray Film And Vaudeville on Strand Program

Beautiful scenes, daring and gorgeous costumes, gripping mystery and a sensational denouement—plus Mae Murray—this is the formula for one of the smashing successes of the screen year. It is "The Masked Bride," Mae Murray's startling new picture of Paris life and an underworld plot, now playing at the Strand theatre in connection with a Keith vaudeville bill.

Christy Cabanne, who directed the new feature, has given the screen public a story that transforms Miss Murray literally into a different creature. She is a radiant personality; a flashing butterfly in a swirl of frivolity; then, suddenly, as danger threatens the man she loves, the mask drops, and from the tinsel emerges a woman, ready to sacrifice her own life in the fight for her lover's happiness.

It is a dramatic theme as big as the settings in which it is played—for it is staged on a scale approaching the spectacular. Gorgeous Parisian cafes—where laughter rules—even though hearts may be seething in rage under the disguise of gaiety; strange underworld haunts where the scum of Paris gathers, pathetically eager to be happy.

Jack Low of Ohio avenue visited his brother, Billie, who is a patient at Allegheny general hospital, Pittsburgh on Sunday.

MEET OF LAYMEN IS SCHEDULED

Hancock county will be largely represented at the state wide convention of Presbyterian laymen which is scheduled to be held in Charleston March 2-4. It is expected that more than 2,000 men and women will attend the sessions.

This is the first effort for a unified state-wide Presbyterian laymen's session and the main purpose is to stimulate keener interest and more wide-awake activity in the church's endeavors.

Of particular interest to the visiting lady will be the reports from the home missionaries. About 40 of the 55 workers will be present.

NEW ROAD SIGNS FOR HIGHWAYS

Dies for the manufacture of direction and warning signs for the national and state highways in West Virginia have been cast and their manufacture is soon to begin in the road commission's plate factory at Nitro.

The signs recommended by the national marking committee have been approved by the road commission.

The danger signals will be black and yellow and these will be the same on the state and national trails.

It is not known at present when the task of putting up the new markers will be carried out, but it is believed it will be done by the time the tourist season begins.

The present red and white state markings on bridges and posts along the state roads will be abandoned, it was said today.

Steel for the making of the dies was ordered by the road commission several weeks ago. The designs were worked out by the engineering department of the road commission following the models approved by the national parking committee.

The markers will be put up at dangerous points and at cross roads.

POTTERY DANCE PLANS ARRANGED

Final plans for the dance to be held Friday night by the employees of the six Homer Laughlin China shops in the Eagles hall in East Liverpool were completed last evening.

Bert Lytell Stars With Anita Stewart In Ceramic Picture

"Never the Twain Shall Meet" was presented on the screen at the Ceramic theatre last night. The new film, presented by the Cosmopolitan Corporation, and released by Metro-Goldwyn, is a picturization of Peter B. Kyne's South Sea tale of the same name, and proved to be one of the most exceptional and enchanting pictures of the year. It combines an excellent cast, pictorial backgrounds of charm and beauty and a fast-moving story with drama, pathos and comedy mixed in exactly the correct proportion for perfect screen entertainment.

In the making of this picture Maurice Tourneur, the director, took a notable company to Tahiti and Moorea for the filming of the scenes on the actual locale described by the author. Anita Stewart, in the leading feminine role of Tamea, a half-caste island princess, has never been lovelier or more bewitching than in the native costume of the South Seas.

Bert Lytell, as the young American scion of wealth and social position, who gives up his wealth for the half-caste girl, has an unusual opportunity for displaying his powers of character delineation.

The other members of the cast are equally excellent in their respective roles. Justine Johnston, as a beautiful young woman of society, is extraordinarily interesting, as is Huntley

How to Stop That Weakening Cough

Why let a heavy, stubborn cough wear you down when you can get speedy relief and often break it up completely in 24 hours through a remarkable new method based on the famous Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs?

Here is the method: You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. It has a double action. It not only soothes and heals irritation, but also removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. So with the cause removed the worst cough soon disappears.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children, too—no harmful drugs. Very economical, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

Two Views of Fires

During their observance of a fire prevention day, citizens of La Salle, Ill., were told some of the differences between the American and the European attitudes toward fire hazards.

The tendency in the United States is to build hurriedly of combustible materials. Europe constructs slowly of solid masonry. Americans cheerfully pay high insurance rates to cover fire hazards. Europeans secure lower rates by maintaining safer conditions. America has elaborate and expensive fire extinguishing apparatus. Europe's lack in this line is compensated for in its more thorough methods of fire prevention.

Here, fire is regarded as a misfortune, and sympathy is given the owner of the destroyed property. Abroad, fire is looked upon as a crime; investigation follows and culpable persons are punished. Here, fire insurance is supposed to prevent loss to the owner of the property. Europeans understand that you can't burn down a building without incurring loss, and they realize that ultimately the whole community is taxed for such waste.

The American point of view seems to be that the insurance money has been exchanged for the destroyed property. The foreign point of view is that there has been an absolute loss of resources for which the owner can be only partly indemnified.

If Americans can be made to take fire prevention more seriously by converting them to the foreign point of view, somebody should undertake and carry through the necessary educational drive to that end.

Clothing Extremes

A 70-year-old merchant of Franklin, O., attending the annual convention of the National Retail Dry Goods association, summed up the differences between his customers of half a century ago and of today.

"In those days," he remarked, "we used to sell 20 yards of silk for one dress. Now a woman buys three yards and considers that it is more than enough. Then there were only three or four shades of silks to be obtained, now there are hundreds.

"The men of 50 years ago were superstitious beyond all believing in the matter of what they wore. In winter it had to be medicated red flannel underwear, and only a few people of the better class could be induced to wear white merino."

And those were the "good old days." The three yards of silk as against 20 yards indicate a great advance in health, in simplicity, in freedom, in leisure. The medicated red flannels were supposed to keep people healthy, but they would be of little less use to city dwellers now.

As long as the "golden mean" remains so difficult of attainment by mere human beings—we should rejoice that we are living in the period of extremely light clothing instead of the red flannel period.

The Bright Child

Ruth Horn, of Brooklyn, N. Y., aged 9, is ready for the senior high school. She has done eight years' work in the elementary school in less than four years. "Everything's easy to me," she says.

So she will probably go right on, skipping classes through the high school and college, and emerging as a Bachelor Girl of Arts at 14 or 15.

Poor kid! There is no childhood for the precocious, and little of the glory of youth. They must jump straight from infancy to maturity, slaves of book and blackboard and test paper, sacrificing body and soul for brain. And then what?

They do not always rush on so briskly through life. A youthful genius who finished Harvard some years ago with high honors at 14 was discovered recently living wretchedly in a hall bedroom in New York.

Life is more than school work, and only through full living and normal growth can children be educated for life.

Registered Treaties

More than 1,000 treaties have now been registered with the league of nations. This alone many friends of the league regard as justifying that body's existence and expense.

This is one phase of the league's activity, however, which the general public seems scarcely to appreciate as much as it deserves. Of course, it is possible for nations to register 1,000 treaties frankly and openly and still to prepare a few in secret. But the secret treaty is invalid from the start and is bound to lose favor and power little by little as the registered treaty gains them.

Registered treaties are much less likely to be regarded as "scraps of paper" than the old sort, which concerned only the treaty-making nations.

It is all a matter of growth and development in national minds.

We note with some misgivings that the proposed revision of the calendar would give us 13 months, and every month would have a Friday-the-thirteenth. Heaven help us on the thirteenth of December!

Now that everybody is going to the Mediterranean or the West Indies or around the world or just south or something, it's getting to be quite exclusive to stay at home.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The New Education Bill.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 23.—Joint hearings are about to begin in congress on the new education bill which was introduced at the beginning of this session. The bill, which provides for a Department of Education with a secretary in the president's cabinet, is sponsored in the senate by Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, and in the house by Representative Daniel A. Reed, of New York. It should scarcely have a more propitious introduction since Senator Curtis is the Republican floor leader in the senate, and Representative Reed is now the chairman of the Committee on Education in the house.

In 1867 congress established a Department of Education but without representation in the president's cabinet. Two years later this department was reduced to the status of a bureau and has continued as such ever since. The National Education association has many times petitioned congress for the reestablishment of a Department of Education with a secretary in the cabinet. Nothing has ever come of this, however.

In 1915 the president of the National Education Association, who at that time was Mrs. Henry C. Bradford, state superintendent of public instruction of Colorado, appointed a commission to inquire concerning the emergency in education. This commission reported in favor of the establishment of a Department of Education with representation in the cabinet, and for further federal support for education. A bill embodying these recommendations was introduced into congress, and has been reintroduced at each succeeding session of congress.

Most of the opposition to the bill seemed to be centered in the provision for additional aid from the federal government. It was realized that there is little prospect of receiving favorable action on such a bill, and accordingly, last year the legislative commission of the National Education association sought the cooperation of leaders in education throughout the country in drafting a new bill. After much study on the part of a great many people, and after several conferences, the bill as presented to congress last December was finally drafted.

The new education bill, as it is frequently referred to, provides for the creation of a Department of Education with a secretary in the president's cabinet, but it does not call for federal aid to the states.

To Be a Clearing House.
The proposed Department of Education is to be in a general way a clearing house of educational interests. That is, it is to conduct research work so that there may be collected statistics and facts showing the conditions and progress of education in the several states and in foreign countries. Research work will also be conducted which will aid materially in establishing and maintaining more efficient schools and school systems in this country. It is explained that such research can be more efficiently done by a central organization than it could be by the individual school systems. Great duplication of effort may be avoided by having the work done by the federal government.

Those supporting the new bill are anxious to stress the point that there is no thought of the federal government's usurping the authority of the states and municipalities over their schools. The Department of Education would in no way attempt to interfere with the conduct of the schools by the individual states or cities. That this is very clearly understood in educational circles is said to be indicated by the fact that the bill has the support of an overwhelming majority of school officials throughout the country.

The results of research work done by the department would be available to municipal and private schools, as well as to public schools. It is expected that such a department would be of immense service to all educational enterprises.

As is well known there are many educational activities under the federal government, and it is believed that these might better be conducted under one head. It is therefore proposed that to the Department of Education be transferred the Bureau of Education and the Federal Board of Vocational Education. Since the latter is to function as a division of the Department of Education, the secretary of that department is to be a member of the board and ex-officio chairman. Under the new bill the authority, powers, and duties conferred and imposed upon the secretary of the interior regarding the Columbia Institution for the Deaf and Howard University would be transferred to the secretary of education.

Educational Conference Proposed.
Aside from these educational activities of the federal government there are other departments of the government having educational programs. In order that their work may be coordinated it is suggested that a federal conference on education be created. This conference is to consist of one representative and one alternate to be appointed by the head of each department.

There are some who are of the opinion that the proposed program might be carried out by the Bureau of Education if it were enlarged. Advocates of a new department, however, say that such would not be feasible. They give as one of their reasons that it is important to bring about the consolidation of federal agencies concerned with education, and no one would seriously propose that this could be accomplished through the development of the Bureau of Education, the undertaking being of greater importance than that associated with the status of a bureau in the department of the interior.

If educational research is to be adequately supported, it is argued, it will be necessary that this function of the federal government be presented for the consideration of those who make the budget by one of no less rank than a cabinet officer. All matters of national concern involve education, and it is contended that it is of the utmost importance that the representative of this most important governmental service sit at the council table of the nation.

Those working for the bill now in committee emphasize their belief that a consolidation of educational agencies will effect both efficiency and economy.

This bill for the establishment of a federal Department of Education is distinct from the issue of additional federal support to the state. It is said that the support of research in a federal Department of Education will bring returns in increased efficiency and in actual savings which will amount to many times the cost of the researches.

The new education bill has not only the support of educators all over the country, but has been endorsed by many large organizations such as the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the American Nurses' association, and the Supreme Council, Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, Southern Jurisdiction. Its advocates are hopeful that it will be favorably passed upon after the hearings this month.

Britain is Becoming Nation of Men Clerks, Fears Lord Southwark

LONDON—Britain is in danger of becoming a nation of clerks, according to Lord Southwark, a well known figure in the world of commerce here. His lordship's contention is supported by many other prominent Englishmen.

Addressing the annual meeting of the British Chambers of Commerce at Bath, Lord Southwark deplored the increasing tendency of the English state schools to turn out boys whose only qualifications were clerical, and declared that the worship of the black coat among Englishmen had resulted in the market being flooded.

"Businessmen are agreed," he said, "that the present English system of elementary education tended to produce and increase unduly the supply of clerical assistants."

"This craze to become a clerk has resulted in the market being flooded with clerks and unemployed, who have a smattering of all subjects but are masters of none."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. MCINTYRE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 23.—At the races yesterday I met many famous people—some for the first time. Ed Howe, the Kansas philosopher, and I have exchanged many letters but never met. In many ways he appeals to me as one of our sanest thinking, kind, fearless and uncompromising. He has been seasoned by the ripe experience of his years. Mr. Howe is past 70. He wore a miniature Elbert Hubbard flowing tie. For the benefit of bright paragraphing kidders, he was otherwise fully clothed. One meets Dudley Field Malone, international lawyer, everywhere. He was here.

He has participated in many famous divorces and Bill Hogg called his "America's highest common divisor." I was especially impressed with Gene Tunney, the pugilist. While we were talking incidentally, Jack Dempsey walked by with his wife. The pugilist bowed rather aloofly. "There's the champion," said Tunney, and changed the subject. Tunney is a clean-living fellow with a boyish manner. I think most people want to see him land the next championship. Dempsey's fighting record has never appealed to me. His victories have been chiefly over second-rate stars. Gene Sarazen, the celebrated golfer, is a bronzed young man of slight build and pleasing manner. Kin Hubbard, whose homely and quaint Abe Martin philosophy has convulsed the world, was on hand. I have known him for several years. And he is always interesting.

Kin did not start writing until he was 38. He confesses to a longing and futile ache to be a minstrel man. He has a trunk filled with tambourines, dancing shoes and other minstrel paraphernalia. John McE. Bowman, the hotel man, flushed with the triumph of his new inn at Coral Gables, was also present.

Marquis—you know Gloria's husband—was there. He told me he had a sudden hunch. He played "Brainstorm" and smiled at his wife. Flo Ziegfeld, Billie Burke, Gene Buck, Sailing Baruch, the former Irene Castle and several others came over from Palm Beach.

Prize fighters, I believe, have more fawning sycophants dog-trotting at their heels than any others in the public eye. If a pug goes out for a walk he soon resembles a moving caravan. Several defended Dempsey for not fighting Wills. One asked me: "Would you fight a negro?" I can see no reason why not, if I were a pugilist. Some of our most illustrious white fighters have. It is a profession whose chief asset is brute strength. There may have been a more finished fighter than Joe Gans, a colored man, but I have not seen him. The negro is not barred in literature, the stage or concert singing, and I see no reason for his being barred in the lesser profession of pugilism.

Will Rogers dropped by after playing polo all afternoon. Being a Californian and the rivalry being what it is, all his interviewers bombarded him, he said, with questions about the weather. He straddled the issue by praising both climates. Bill looks very swank in a polo helmet. He is going to California soon to write his memoirs.

After Bill left I stretched out on a side lawn to sun myself—Florida fashion. Much of my attire was left to imagination. I was half conscious someone was approaching and sat up like a startled dreamer. I saw a horrified lady rushing for her automobile. My belated apology, whoever she is. I wasn't expecting company. Bill Rogers is used to semi-nudity. He has been in the Follies for years.

One of the many beautiful ladies I have seen in Florida is Mrs. Edwin Simpson. A number of years ago in New York I introduced her to the gentleman who is now her husband.

EVE'S TWO LOVERS

EDGAR POE NORRIS

Four.

The day that John Ingate was thirty his mother, watching the way he conducted himself in the company of the young women she had assembled at his birthday party, decided that he was "woman-proof"; that he would never marry. He was coldly formal and courteous with them, and apparently bored. They were all the young women of the town she deemed sufficiently eligible to be her daughter-in-law.

The truth of the matter was that he was "fed up" on his mother's and his sister's interference in his affairs, and indubitably associated their ways with all of the women of his class.

Mrs. Ingate had been disturbed by the spectacle, and yet not ill-pleased. It was irregular for a man not to want to continue a family tradition handed down to him by his grandfather and father in turn; that there must be a John Ingate trained and ready to step into the presidency of John Ingate's Sons, Inc., when it was vacated by death. On the other hand, she disliked the idea of living a lonely life, with both of her children married. She had resolved never to live with either, and have grandchildren under foot, and daughters-in-law looking upon her as an intruder.

Naturally the news that John was seriously in love with this MacLurie girl was disturbing. For two reasons. It would be a social comedown, she felt. Furthermore, it would make it certain that she must live a lonely life. For she could never even visit John if he married Eve MacLurie. Their magnetisms were different, and uncompro-mising. They would never be able to get along, it was plain. At the very moment when John Ingate, in the privacy of his office, was proposing marriage to Eve MacLurie, his mother was weeping upon her pillow in the stuffy old suite in the ancient Ingate mansion that she would not allow to be changed.

Eve, facing her employer, could not blurt out what was upon her lips. Some power held a finger upon her mouth.

"It is because you don't love me?" John pressed.

Impulsively she shook her head.

His eyes brightened and he leaped toward her. "Oh, Eve, my dear—"

"Wait, John wait!" It was the first time she had ever called him by his first name. "Wait—I love Clay, too."

John Ingate, in the act of grabbing her into his arms, stopped stark still.

"Then you don't love me?"

"Yes—Oh, John, I love you both. I do."

He studied her, puzzled.

"I do," she repeated, trying to make him understand.

"I don't see how you can love both of us," he said slowly.

"But I do. I've—Oh, I've been in torment since yesterday. I've tried to decide. I think I have—"

"No, Eve, I don't think you love both of us. You love Clay, or you love me." His eyes held hers relentlessly, seeking the truth.

"Oh, why can't I love both of you?" she broke out in anguish. "A mother can love two children—or six—"

"Is there only one man in all the world for each woman? Only one woman in the world for each man?"

John Ingate sat down again, stiffly.

"What would you say Eve, if I told you that I loved two women—that I loved another as much as I loved you; no less and no more?" He was puzzled, distraught.

"I would believe it if you told me so, John," she replied with passionate earnestness.

The response struck him silent for a moment. He wanted to believe her, but couldn't.

"I'm afraid it is Clay you love, Eve," he said huskily. "You just don't want to tell me. . . . If you really loved me, you would not doubt it; you would be sure." He arose. "I—perhaps we'd better. . . ."

She comprehended that he thought they ought to separate; that either he or she ought to leave the office. She also arose. Her legs trembled, she shivered; she sat down again.

John Ingate made as if to go, then turned. "I think I understand, Eve. You don't want to hurt me. I understand. That's good of you, Eve. I like you for it." His voice was husk-

ier. "I think I'll go." He grabbed a hat and went out.

Eve sat staring after him. He didn't, he wouldn't understand. . . . Clay would. . . . Yes, Clay would. . . .

She would go to Clay now. . . . Her heart was suddenly at ease.

The door opened as she was going toward it, and John Ingate re-entered the room. She was startled by the change in his expression. He seemed like a new man. He had fought a battle with himself. He looked confident now. He was John Ingate, the businessman, again. The other John Ingate, the lover, had gone out.

"I hope you are feeling better," he said, not unkindly, but with repressed feeling. "If you wish, you may go home for the rest of the day. . . . I am sorry I lost control of myself."

Eve eyed him wonderingly. She hadn't supposed he could be like this the man she loved. He was apologizing, regretfully, for having told her he loved her, as if he realized now that he had made a mistake. She felt humiliated.

"I think I will, Mr. Ingate," she said. "I'll have Miss Copley come in and finish the dictation." She opened the door.

"Wait, Eve, wait. . . . Please close the door." He repeated the order as she hesitated.

"As a friend, Eve," he went on, "I want to say a few things to you. As a friend. Please think this matter over carefully. I'm not considering myself now. . . . Clay is a weak fellow. He's spoiled. He has a temper. . . . He, Oh it's caddish of me to talk about him, but I don't think you've considered him deeply enough, Eve. He's weak, I tell you."

Made Profit of $10,000 In Only Three Weeks

By simply following the advice of friends, Mr. Owen Carr, aged 71 years, and a lifelong resident of Bridgeport, Ohio, considers himself $10,000 better off within a period of three weeks. This is how it happened: For four years or more Mr. Carr was a sufferer from rheumatism, and neuritis, and recently sustained a stroke of paralysis. His stomach was in bad shape, and coupled with his other major ailments, life was simply a misery to him. Upon advice of friends, after having taken as he says, "Barrels of medicine without results," he began a treatment of Ka-di-ok, the wonderful herbal system builder and stomach tonic. In three weeks, Mr. Carr declared to the Ka-di-ok representative, he was a well man, and considers himself $10,000 better off.

This is a genuine statement coming from a most grateful friend of Ka-di-ok, and what Ka-di-ok did for Mr. Carr it has done for thousands of others and will continue to do for many thousands more, if sufferers will but give it a chance by taking a treatment.

Ka-di-ok is sold in East Liverpool at Mathews' Cut Rate Store and other drug stores.

Miss Talmadge Has Two Roles in Film Hit at American

An intimate picture of life behind the scenes in romantic old Vienna is given in "Her Sister From Paris," Constance Talmadge's new starring picture, produced by Joseph M. Schenck for First National, at the American theatre.

She nodded. "Yes, John, Clay is weak. That's why I love him. He needs me. . . . I am going to marry him."

In a moment she had closed the door behind her, leaving John Ingate with bowed head and clinched fists. (To be continued.)

In the next instalment: A Woman's Way.

Constance plays two distinctly different roles, one a lovely but timid young housewife and the other a brazen, boisterous Parisian dancer. The two characters are twin sisters.

The story is laid in romantic Vienna and has to do with a wife who thinks her husband doesn't love her because he consistently fails to demonstrate his affection. So she leaves him and assumes the character of her stage-dancer sister.

In this disguise she charms him so completely that he even elopes with her, but awakens from his fascination in time to realize that he loves, after all, none but his own wife.

As the story unfolds, entrancing glimpses are shown of life in the homes of Vienna, and behind the scenes of the theatres. The concluding sequence takes place in a lonely old tavern in the forest, relic of the ancient days of old Viennese gaiety.

Constance is supported by a noteworthy cast headed by Ronald Colman, George K. Arthur and Gertrude Claire. Sidney Franklin, who has directed some of her greatest successes, directed this new starring vehicle.

The story is an original by Hans Kraly.

Treat Colds 2 Ways

With ONE Treatment

WHEN rubbed over throat and chest for all kinds of cold troubles Vicks VapoRub does two things at once:

(1) Its ingredients are vaporized by the body heat and inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing, and

(2) At the same time it warms and stimulates the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the soreness and pain and thus aiding the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

This double action of Vicks usually relieves the most stubborn cold over night.

PROVIDE FUND FOR "NARROWS"

Set Aside $18,000 for Improvement Job at Creek.

Representatives of the Ohio Good Roads Federation at Columbus today announced that the 1926 state highway program calls for an outlay of $120,000 for the maintenance, resurfacing and repair of 59.5 miles of highway in Jefferson county and $18,000 for the improvement of the Yellow Creek "Narrows." A number of other major projects are also being worked out but no conclusions have yet been reached. Announcement is made that the state highway department has ordered one of its big steam shovels sent to the Yellow Creek Narrows.

The inter-county highway program calls for reconstruction work on Section R of Inter-County Highway Number 7. The county highway program calls for improvements on the Shanes-Costanza road, Pine Grove Church-Hammondsville road, the Richmond-Praro road, and the resurfacing of the Bloomfield-Boston road and the Wells Creek road. The township program calls for work on the Mingo-Gould road, now under construction.

On the inter-county system in Jefferson county there are 20.25 miles of brick; 15.14 concrete; 10.3 penetration macadam; 12.4 water-bound macadam; 43.2 traffic-bound macadam and 17.1 miles of gravel, etc. The total improved mileage is 101.29 and the unimproved mileage 17.40 miles.

On the county highway system there are .80 miles of brick; 143 water-bound macadam and 62.5 of traffic-bound macadam. The total improved mileage is 206.3 and the unimproved 60.5.

The federation favors continuing the work on the state highway system, widening and resurfacing the heavy traffic roads leading into the large cities, replacing old and dangerous bridges with new ones and starting a program for the elimination of the most hazardous grade crossings. Rather than suspend highway work in the state for several years, as is now threatened, the federation favors the restoration of the half mill state road levy, provided no more practicable method of raising funds is proposed.

Is Age Controlled by Glands?

Dr. Serge Voronoff, of France, famous physician and surgeon, who has devoted years to research and experimentation with glandular treatment, says: "A man is worth only as much as his glands."

Dr. Arnold Lorand says in his book, "Old Age Deferred," in speaking of the glands: "We must insist upon the reinforcement of their functions if checked by age or disease by means of extracts obtained from the similar organs of healthy animals."

The new scientific formula—Glandogen—embodies this method. Glandogen is a highly concentrated gland compound in convenient, compact tablet form which combines the important extracts of the vital glands of healthy young animals with other efficacious ingredients. Hundreds of keen-eyed men and women are today taking Glandogen. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Matthews' Cut Rate Store will supply you.

Dominions Ask Date For Imperial Meet; May be Held in 1927

LONDON—The Prime Ministers of the dominions have been asked by the Cabinet to agree upon a date for the next Imperial conference. It has not yet been decided whether the conference will be held this year or in 1927. Many important problems will be taken up at the next conference, including the question of the method adopted by the London government in consulting the dominions in regard to foreign affairs. Questions of imperial defense, overseas settlement, immigration, and tariff are also to be discussed.

The last Imperial conference was held in October, 1923. When the first conference was held in 1887 it was planned to have a similar meeting every four years, but the program has not been observed, although conferences have been assembled in 1894, 1897, 1902, 1907, 1909, 1911, 1914, 1916 and 1917.

123,500 LIVES EXACTED SINCE 1917 BY AUTOS

Last Year's Death List Contains 24,000 Victims.

RECORD SOARING

Secretary of Commerce Hoover Cites Appalling Toll.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Automobile accidents have cost the United States 123,500 lives since 1917—more than were killed in the World War—according to statistics made public today by the department of commerce.

On the 1925 death list were 24,000 victims, 2.5 per cent greater than in 1924. Unless emergency measures are taken to check a menace that has grown annually since the automobile became the principal means of transportation this year's fatalities will show another increase.

The automobile fatalities made up about 15 per cent of the total deaths due to accidents of all kinds in 1925. There were about five deaths to every 4,000 registered automobiles.

Draft Report for Conference. Details of motor accidents for the past few years were issued as a report to the National Street and Highway conference which will meet in Washington, March 23, 24 and 25.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has under consideration a number of plans to bring to public attention the appalling losses faced by the country as a result of what are considered partially preventable accidents.

Hoover has a number of experts at work in cooperation with committees of the conference to devise methods of restoring pre-war safety on automobile streets and highways.

Responsibility for a part of the fall-down in traffic law enforcement is laid at the door of municipal and state courts through their failure to assess heavy jail sentences against flagrant violators.

Hoover's Recommendations.

Government officials, however, consider the present laws entirely inadequate to meet what was termed by Hoover a "national emergency." Included in the suggested legislative remedies are the following:

1. State laws providing penitentiary sentences to persons convicted of driving while intoxicated and for flagrant cases of reckless driving.
2. Uniformity of state and municipal traffic laws to eliminate widespread confusion among motorists arising from complexity and variations in regulations.
3. Establishment of a federal commission for the preparation of model traffic laws.
4. Compulsory jail sentences for persons convicted of traffic violations which endanger life.

WHISKY BILL ISSUE IN SUIT

"Illegal Transaction" Defense in Court Fight Over $875.

A whisky bill, it is alleged, is the issue in the suit of Alfred T. Flaig, Allison street, against John H. Weaver, former resident here, for $875, which will be heard tomorrow by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley.

It is claimed that the bill was the result of an "illegal transaction" inasmuch as it represented the purchase of "whisky and other intoxicating liquors."

Tony Cascio, 643 St. Clair avenue, has sued the Allied Motor Mutual Insurance company, Youngstown, for $400 insurance on an automobile stolen November 17, 1925. He is represented by Attorney G. S. Thompson.

Mrs. Mary Emmerling 933 May street, has entered suit against Lawrence Haight, 607 Edgewood avenue, to collect a $167.24 grocery bill.

MINER KILLED BY ROCK SLIDE

POMEROY, O., Feb. 23.—Authorities today were investigating a rock slide in mine No. 16, of the Pittsburgh Coal company, late yesterday which took the life of W. H. Cole, 42, a miner.

More than five tons of rock gave way above where Cole was working on a loading machine, killing him instantly. Several miners were in the mine at the time. Cole was the only one injured.

TODAY

Dr. Singer, of the Gorgas Memorial institute, says mosquitoes kill every year 3,000,000 human beings, by implanting germs of malaria in their blood.

This loss Mr. Singer estimates at $100,000,000 a year, rather a low estimate, $33 dollars a head. Even a man with malaria should be worth more than that.

If three million people, or 3,000 died in some dramatic way, government would do something about it. But what happens quietly, following a mosquito bite, arouses slight attention.

Nathan Straus, who has done more to protect child life than any other man, said long ago, "If one young child were put to death publicly, with a crowd looking on, those guilty would be executed, and national excitement would know no limit. But a hundred thousand children can be put to death quietly by sellers of impure milk and nobody pays any attention."

Mrs. Straus fortunately did pay attention, and cut down the death rate among very young children by at least half.

The Prince of Wales takes leprosy in the British empire more seriously than our government takes malaria in the United States. In all the British empire, Africa, everywhere, there are 300,000 lepers. The prince urges his government to stamp out the disease.

We have in America millions suffering from malaria, which like leprosy destroys usefulness, and causes death.

To drain swamps where mosquitoes breed, in the meanwhile using flying machines to "dust" the swamps with a dust deadly to mosquitoes, but harmless to human beings, would soon end the malaria plague in the United States.

Jacob Haish, who invented barbed wire and an automatic machine for its manufacture, is dead, 99 years old. Cattlemen and farmers will bless his memory and hope he went straight to heaven.

Horses and other animals torn on his barbed wire will feel differently, especially the thousands of western cattle, that, drifting before a storm, were stopped by weak strands of barbed wire and lay down to die.

In the other world, inventor Haish will find thousands of men hung up by barbed wire entanglements and riddled with shot during the big war. He never planned that.

Dr. Charles E. Barker tells you how to live to 100. Drink 10 or 12 glasses of water each day, exercise every morning before you start the day's work, eat little meat, take a teaspoon of salt each morning in a glass of warm water, and two tablespoons of bran in water each night. Many would prefer not to live 100 years.

The German Aero-Lloyd, combining Germany's flying companies, is starting 42 flying lines, reaching all Germany and many foreign countries. One day flights from Berlin to Moscow are part of the program. Since the end of the war Germany, forbidden by the allies to manufacture flying machines, has had to content herself with planes having no engines. She is now making up for lost time, and sets an example needed in this country.

town and Winona Central companies. The Ohio Telephone and Telegraph and the Farmers' and Merchants' companies were the only telephone concerns in this county whose property increased in value.

Valuation of public utilities in 1923 was $23,659,770, compared with $22,852,730 in 1924. All but $153,420 of the $22,852,730 worth of property owned by utilities in 1924 was used in their operation, the report shows.

Earnings Are Reported. The total valuation of The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction companies in Columbiana and Jefferson counties was $1,953,260 in 1923 and $1,948,030 in 1924, a decrease of $5,230.

Gross earnings for the year ending June 30, 1923, were $388,071, and for the year ending June 30, 1924, $388,195. The street car lines in this district were idle for a greater part of the period covered by the 1923 report, which is responsible for the big difference in the earnings.

Gross earnings of the Manufacturers' Light and Heat company for the year ending June 30, 1924, increased to $1,446,238 from $1,205,291 for 12 months ending June 30, 1923.

Tax duplicate of county jumped from $110,529,820 in 1923 to $131,306,840 in 1924, an increase of $20,777,020.

Valuation of non-taxable property in 1924 exceeded the duplicate total, the report shows. Schools, churches, cemeteries, municipal, township, state and federal owned property, charitable institutions and lodge homes, which are non-taxable, are valued at $185,211,590.

East Liverpool's tax duplicate in 1923 was $24,783,690; in 1924, $25,472,950, and in 1924, $31,976,839. Taxes levied from East Liverpool property in 1924 totaled $660,001.04.

ROTARIANS SEE PHONE MOVIES

Frank Swaney Outlines Bell History in East Liverpool.

History of the telephone, 50 years old this year, was graphically presented in motion pictures at the meeting of the Rotary club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. today. The title of the film was "Making Telephone History."

Frank Swaney, commercial manager of the East Liverpool exchange, told of its introduction here in 1880, when 18 telephones were installed. The first female operator employed by a telephone company was placed in charge of the local exchange, he declared. Swaney was introduced by Harry Middleton, chairman of the meeting.

Call for the annual district conference of the 21st district, which will be held in Youngstown on April 15 and 16, was read by President Frank L. Wells. The call was issued by Leonard Skeggs, Youngstown, district governor. Delegates from the local club, named by President Wells, are Charles R. Boyce and Malcolm Thompson, while the alternates are C. W. Arnold and Lawrence Smith. Attorney Blaine H. Cochran will be leader of the song directors' breakfast and round table discussion which will be held on the morning of the second day and song leader of the district dinner which will be held that evening.

Members of the local club have been invited to attend an inter-city meeting, which will be held in Steubenville on Friday, March 5. Members of the Carrollton and Coshocton clubs will also take part in the session. A committee, consisting of J. M. Wells, Lawrence Smith, Dr. Samuel Rich and Martin Abbott, was named to arrange for the trip. A special car may be chartered.

C. J. Zange will be chairman of next week's meeting, at which directors will be nominated. The election will take place at the first session in April. The educational committee of which C. W. Arnold is chairman will have charge of the meeting on Tuesday, March 9.

TROOPS GUARD NON-UNION MEN

Soldiers on Duty as Indiana Coal Mines Operate.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 23.—With the arrival of National guard troops sent here by Adjutant General Wm. H. Kershner at Indianapolis after a conference with Gov. Ed. Jackson, virtually all non-union mines in the southern Indiana coal field were reported to be operating at full blast today.

No trouble was reported and none was expected, according to the county authorities and leading operators, all of whom denied requesting troops.

The guard units included a full chemical warfare company of Indianaapolis and Greenburg detachments and an airplane squad from the national guard headquarters at Kokomo. The airmen will act as scouts.

The two infantry units carried a full supply of chemical weapons and rifles. A large quantity of tear gas bombs was available for use if needed.

Six other companies were ready, within a radius of 25 miles of the coal fields, for instant service in the event any emergency arose.

Ten mines in Vanderburg and Warrick counties were operating on a non-union basis before the recent riots that followed efforts of union men to unionize the mines, resulting in the closing down of all except two of the mines. These two—the Crescent and Sunnyside mines on the outskirts of Louisville—were unable to continue under protection of heavily armed sheriffs, deputies and police.

Laura Christy Sane

The murder charge, which was filed in municipal court here by Chief of Police Hugh J. McDermott after Mrs. Christy was arrested as a suspect in the death of her eighth husband, still hangs over her head. However, the case has not been considered by the grand jury which does not meet until April.

Mrs. Christy has been under close observation since her arrival at the Lima institution, according to Dr. Clark.

Because many of her teeth are loose, it is planned to extract them, the superintendent said. Upon completion of this dental work, she will be assigned work in the hospital laundry.

Since her confinement, Mrs. Christy, according to Dr. Clark, has reiterated her confession of administering arsenic to her late husband, and she repudiated her story of giving poison to Ebert. She also denied that other husbands who are dead, were victims of foul play.

Coolidge Opposes Great American Air Fleet, Callers Told

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—President Coolidge is opposed to the construction of a great American air fleet because he believes that to do so would encourage other nations to do likewise, and thus lend impetus to a new armament race, he told callers at the White House today.

The president believes that the passage of legislation incorporating the recommendations of the Morrow board will remedy most of the shortcomings in the present air establishment.

Omaha's Contessed 'Phantom Killer,' Is Victim of Paresis

Physician Says Slayer Will Not Live Long and Will go Insane Before he Dies.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 23.—Dr. F. S. Lovely, who examined Frank Carter, 46, of Ackley, Ia., Omaha's confessed "phantom killer," this morning said the man was a victim of paresis, which is the last stage of a social disease. Carter would not live long and will go insane before he dies, said Dr. Lovely.

Carter was today regretting his carelessness in retaining the leather jacket which led to his capture yesterday afternoon at Bartlett, Ia.

In a statement covering more than a score of pages, the man held for the deaths of two men, the serious wounding of a third, the frightening of a girl when he shot through a window into a drug store, and the terrorizing of two cities for many nights, detailed his shooting and motives, according to Henry Beal, county attorney.

The killing of Dr. A. D. Searles, according to the statement, was because the physician would not give him money. William L. McDevitt, dairyman, was shot to death on the street two weeks ago because Carter, his statement said, feared McDevitt was after him, and the same reason was given for the shooting in Council Bluffs of Ross Johnston, railroad detective.

Carter fired into various homes and the drug store, the statement said, so police would confine their search to one neighborhood until he got clear of Omaha. In this he was successful.

Carter was not entirely clear as to his motives but said the terrorizing was the climax of a "career of crime." He is to be questioned more closely today.

In the meantime, the town of Bartlett is holding a virtual holiday, with C. C. Bruce, railroad section foreman, as chief hero. Bruce and several others will share in the rewards offered for the "phantom sniper."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The week-end reports of uncertainty and hesitation in various lines of business produced a similar feeling in the speculative markets today, and price trends were decidedly mixed in the first two hours of trading.

The oil stocks, tobaccos and motors started the new week at a slightly higher price range, reflecting the influx of some week-end buying orders. Nash Motors in its new form sold up to 66, equivalent to 660 on the old stock, against Saturday's close at 645. Sinclair Oil and the Standard Oil made fractional advances in continuation of their forward move and tobacco stocks moved up a point or two.

Weakness soon developed in Pan-American Petroleum B. American Woolen and other stocks which yielded the most readily last week.

Selling pressure increased in the second hour and prices were a shade lower in the active Industrials and motor shares, United States Steel, American Can and other speculative leaders registered their best prices at the opening, after which declines ranged from 1 to 3 points. Another decline in crude oil production and an advance in gasoline prices by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey failed to stimulate buying in the oil stocks.

Troy Police Baffled

The board of county commissioners was prepared to offer a reward of $1,000 until Sharits returned from his mysterious trip.

Coroner G. J. Hance announced that the formal inquest will be held today with the general public, including newspapermen, excluded. Nesbitt will be the chief witness at the inquiry.

Nesbitt's Statement

Prompted by the many rumors that have been floating in connection with the case, some of them intimating that the husband himself may know more about the crime than he has already told, Nesbitt issued a full and detailed statement of his movements before and after the crime.

Nesbitt's statement describing the finding of the body of his wife follows in part:

"I came home to Troy sometime after 11 p. m. February 17. I first went to the home of my wife's mother. Went in the house and called my wife's name. Her mother answered, saying that Frances was not there. I asked whether she had been there to lunch and she said no.

"Then she said 'call up out home.' I did so and received no answer. I went home.

"I assumed that she was at some friend's and expected to find a note telling me where to go after her, couldn't find the house key on the porch.

"I tried the door and it was unlocked. I turned on the lights and went to the desk where she usually placed notes for me and found no note, and then saw the blood on the floor. I hurried into the bedroom, turned on the light and saw more blood on the floor, and then went in the adjoining bathroom, turned on the light and saw her lying in the tub.

"I took her by the arm and found it cold and clammy, and the horror and shock was such that I hardly knew what to do. I ran to the telephone and called exchange and told her to call the police department first and then asked the telephone operator to get me Dr. Lindenberg. I talked with Dr. Lindenberg and told him to come out at once that something terrible had happened.

"I called Johnson West, a neighbor, and when he came I turned on the water and he washed my wife's face."

Confer With Nesbitt's Counsel.

The issuance of Nesbitt's statements came as the first positive action in a day of uncertainty. County and city officials, as well as the investigating detectives appeared to be in a quandary, having run down many clues and rumors without tangible results, according to their reports.

After the first statement was given out, the officials remained in conference with Attorney Shipman, counsel for Nesbitt, until a late hour last night.

It appears, it is said, that the evidence obtained thus far is inconclusive in either establishing the guilt of any certain party or revealing the identity of the murderer.

Rumors Run Down.

The investigation not only spread throughout this city in an effort to gather any information concerning the crime, but also extended to the surrounding territory as all manner of reports were examined.

Among the many rumors that officials proved groundless today was that a laundry man had visited the Nesbitt home Friday morning about 9 o'clock and that Mrs. Nesbitt had called to him, giving instructions concerning the laundry. It was learned that the laundry man had called at the house Thursday instead of Friday.

Another story that was disproved related that a milkman had noticed signs of life in the Nesbitt home Friday. Investigation disclosed that milk was not delivered there, as the Nesbitts generally purchased it as they needed it.

Two Motorists Forfeit Deposits. P. J. Robinson, claiming to be a resident of New York, and Thayer Moore, a Pennsylvania motorist, forfeited deposits of $5 each when they failed to appear before Municipal Judge Hanley this morning to answer charges of traffic violations. They were arrested yesterday when their automobiles were found parked in the restricted area on the west side of Washington street.

Alleged Rum Ring And Jury Tampering Probes Under Way

CLEVELAND, Feb. 23.—The federal grand jury will reconvene at 1:30 p. m. today to resume its probes into the alleged $140,000,000 nation wide rum syndicate, and the alleged jury tampering in the six trials of Josiah Kirby, recently convicted financier. The probes have no relation with each other.

It was regarded as improbable that indictments would be returned before tomorrow. A roll call of witnesses occupied the attention of federal officers during the forenoon. More than 125 witnesses were called.

United States District Attorney A. E. Bernstein, who is conducting the investigation into the operation of the alleged gigantic rum ring, announced today that he had not completed drawing up the first indictments in the case. It was reported that the first true bill would contain the names of more than 100 persons in many cities.

Poolroom Clean-up

poolroom, East Sixth street, by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, Saturday afternoon, on a charge of permitting gambling. Herbert is alleged to have been running what is known as the "high pill game." He pleaded guilty upon arraignment before Municipal Judge Hanley.

Police Visit Suspected Places. Chief McDermott and Desk Sergeant George Toland raided a suspected gambling room near the corner of Fifth and Market streets Sunday afternoon, but before the door was smashed in all evidence had been removed. Police found several men in the place. Nearby was a pitcher filled with water. In the bottom of the pitcher were many poker chips.

Patrolman McFarland smashed in the rear door of the Christ Ana poolroom, Sixth street, last Friday, when he found the door bolted. The rear door of the American poolroom, Sixth street, was also opened upon McFarland's orders. Rear doors must be kept unlocked at all hours of the day, operators have been told.

A garage at the head of Chestnut street extension, near the city limits, was visited by Captain Conley and Patrolman McFarland Saturday night, when the authorities reached the third floor of the structure, where they suspected a game to be in progress, no evidence was in sight. About 15 men gathered about the place denied they had been gambling.

BERLIN FEARS STRIKE RIOTS

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—Wage riots on a grand scale throughout the Rhineland were predicted for early in April by well informed observers of Germany's economic situation today.

German Communists are planning for "action" through the Ruhr and Rhineland, starting April 1, the date upon which wage agreements expire.

Russians are placing large orders for cream separators and electric apparatus in Sweden.

58 CONVERTS AT M. E. CHURCH

Class Received Into Membership as Revival Closes.

A class of 58 persons were received into membership of the First Methodist Episcopal church in connection with the three-week series of evangelistic services which closed Sunday evening, it was announced today. Others will be admitted later, probably bringing the total up to 80.

The organization formed during the revivals will continue to do personal work until Easter, when there will be another service for the reception of new members. The evangelist meetings were gratifying, large crowds being in attendance at all services. One of the outstanding features was the part taken by the young people.

Prof. Charles Weland, Aurora, Ill., evangelistic singer, who assisted in the campaign, has come to Buffalo, N. Y., where he will arrange for union church work this spring. He will assist in revivals to be held in Alliance on March 6 and on March 22 will go to Ulrichville for a series of services.

Members of the choir which took an active part in the campaign have pledged themselves to attend the mid-week prayer service tomorrow evening and every prayer service until Easter. Prof. H. F. Laughlin will direct the music. A sermon appropriate to the Lenten season will be delivered by Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor of the church.

Keith Vaudeville Bill Scores Hit At Strand Theatre

Manager Smith has booked an exceptional bill for the Strand theatre this week, marking the beginning of Keith vaudeville and feature pictures. The bill for the first three days of the week is headed by the Kitaros Trio, three Japs in a foot balancing act, that scored heavily with both the afternoon and evening crowds.

Dan Coleman, assisted by Alma Bauer and Al Dwinell, offer a comedy act with some singing that goes over big. Coleman, a former burlesque star, keeps the house in an uproar.

Thomas and the Frederick Sisters, appearing in a song and dance revue, and Carmen and Rose, billed as "three hundred pounds of laughter," are the other two acts.

In addition to the vaudeville, a two-reel comedy and a late release photoplay, featuring Mac Murray and Francis X. Bushman in "The Masked Bride," are offered.

Under the new policy at the Strand, matinee performance starts at 2:15, while the evening performance begins at 6:45. The vaudeville performance opens at 7 o'clock followed by movies at 8 o'clock. The second show in the evening is billed for 9 o'clock.

The bill will be changed on Thursday for the last three days of the week.

FRUIT GROWERS PLAN BUSY YEAR

Additional Acreage to be Set Out on New Road Route.

With the ultimate improvement of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road, coupled with the surfacing of the East Palestine-East Liverpool road, the eastern township will become the greatest small fruit and garden truck growing districts in Columbiana county. It has been pointed out by leaders of the Columbiana County Farm bureau.

While parts of St. Clair and Middleton townships have always been active in the culture of small fruits, additional acreage is to be set out this year, and there will also be noted an increase in the production of vegetables.

Several farmers now propose to begin the growing of asparagus this season, and probably 50 acres will be set out. It will be two or three years before there will be a production but the growers are determined to have this production when the two inter-county highways are opened to traffic.

Trustees of Middleton and St. Clair townships are highly interested in the surfacing of the East Palestine-East Liverpool road, which road is in the very heart of the small fruit section of the county. In past years the bulk of the fruit grown in Middleton township has been trucked either to the Youngstown or Pittsburgh market, while the East Liverpool and Salem markets have been passed by.

To Make Fund Canvass.
A joint committee of members of the Lisbon Kiwanis club and the Lisbon volunteer fire department are to confer this week with reference to the canvassing of the village for funds for the purchase of a new fire truck. This equipment is to replace the fire truck now in service.

Bible Reading Here.
At the suggestion of their pastor, the Rev. R. J. Bennett of the Lisbon Christian church, members have been reading the book of Acts this month. BANKING CASE BEFORE COURT

Highest Tribunal Hears Arguments on Benwood Institution.

CHARLESTON W. Va., Feb. 23.—Arguments were to be heard today by the state supreme court on the writ of prohibition which that body recently granted against Judge P. D. Morris, in the case of the wrecked bank of Benwood, W. Va.

This action is outgrowth of a suit brought by Jacob Milbaugh against State Banking Commissioner Abbott and Receiver Picklesimer, in charge of closing up affairs of the bank, to bring to light details of the transactions over a period of 17 years that ended in the wrecking of the bank.

It is alleged that during the period when irregular transactions are said to have been going on, the bank was examined at least 34 times by the state banking department, the body that ordered closing of the bank and now is in charge of its affairs, pronouncing it sound at each examination. Shortage already found on the books of the bank, according to Daniel W. Quinn, expert accountant, is $614,433.49, and probably will reach a million dollars.

Some of the legal points involved in the writ of prohibition against Judge Morris never have been passed upon by the courts in this state.

Why have BOILS?

Boils and pure, rich, red blood never go together. They simply won't mix, any more than oil and water. Healthy blood dries these pests right up!

That's the reason S. S. S. drives agonizing boils completely out of the system. There's not a chance for a boil, or any other breaking out on the skin, when pure blood, full of red cells is rushing through your system. And that's what S. S. S. does. Builds up the red blood. Puts red-blood-cells by the millions back in the system. S. S. S. makes the blood so strong in healthy, red-blood-cells that painful, torturous boils—disfiguring pimples, blackheads and blotches—itching, burning eczema and rashes and other embarrassing skin eruptions simply get out.

It's a fact. S. S. S. has been doing this very thing for 100 years. You can get S. S. S. from any druggist. So, why have boils? Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

BANKING CASE BEFORE COURT

Highest Tribunal Hears Arguments on Benwood Institution.

CHARLESTON W. Va., Feb. 23.—Arguments were to be heard today by the state supreme court on the writ of prohibition which that body recently granted against Judge P. D. Morris, in the case of the wrecked bank of Benwood, W. Va.

This action is outgrowth of a suit brought by Jacob Milbaugh against State Banking Commissioner Abbott and Receiver Picklesimer, in charge of closing up affairs of the bank, to bring to light details of the transactions over a period of 17 years that ended in the wrecking of the bank.

It is alleged that during the period when irregular transactions are said to have been going on, the bank was examined at least 34 times by the state banking department, the body that ordered closing of the bank and now is in charge of its affairs, pronouncing it sound at each examination. Shortage already found on the books of the bank, according to Daniel W. Quinn, expert accountant, is $614,932.49, and probably will reach a million dollars.

Some of the legal points involved in the writ of prohibition against Judge Morris never have been passed upon by the courts in this state.

MINSTREL CAST IS ANNOUNCED

Why have BOILS?

Boils and pure, rich, red blood never go together. They simply won't mix, any more than oil and water. Healthy blood dries these pests right up!

That's the reason S. S. S. drives agonizing boils completely out of the system. There's not a chance for a boil, or any other breaking out on the skin, when pure blood, full of red cells is rushing through your system. And that's what S. S. S. does. Builds up the red blood. Puts red blood-cells by the millions back in the system. S. S. S. makes the blood so strong in healthy, red-blood-cells that painful, torturous boils—disfiguring pimples, blackheads and blotches—itching, burning eczema and rashes and other embarrassing skin eruptions simply get out.

It's a fact. S. S. S. has been doing this very thing for 100 years. You can get S. S. S. from any druggist. So, why have boils? Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Tiger Flowers Will Take Shot At Greb's Title Friday

Colored Star Ready For Ring After Two Month's Solid Rest

Few Gotham Critics Feel That Middleweight Champion Will be in for a Tough Night, Although Greb, in Any Kind of Condition, Figures to Beat Rival the Best Day the Latter Ever Knew.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Several of the boys in the back room either have come into an item of smart information or they have taken to mixing their powders again.

Anyhow, one or two of our leading local minds took occasion today to drop a polite hint to the general effect that all might not go well with Harry Greb on Friday night when he steps out in defense of his world's title against Tiger Flowers, the negro.

This would come under the general head of good, clean fun if it wasn't for the fact that its authors are what is known as "straight men." As far as they and Longfellow are concerned, life is real and life is earnest, only more so.

Just what signs or portents may have prompted them to fear the worst for Harry, the deponent knoweth not, but the advance facts on the bout are approximately these:

Greb, in any kind of good condition, figures to beat Tiger Flowers the best day the latter ever knew. There is no data available that tends to show that Greb will not be right on Friday.

Flowers, judged by his last showing here, has even less chance against the champion than he would have had 15 months ago. He was short-changed out of the decision on the occasion in question, but the Tiger didn't deserve too much, at that. It appeared that he had seen better days, starting with and dating back from the successive home runs Jack Delaney knocked over the right field fence, with the almost unwarranted use of the Tiger's chin.

However, the negro had barnstormed himself silly when last seen here. He has been resting for almost two months, passing up bouts that would have netted him $25,000, which is in the nature of rather serious money. It is about twice as much as he will get for fighting Greb. This seems a bit significant, it being apparent that Flowers' manager believes his man to be something of a "sleeper" for this particular bout.

Against a hard hitter, the Tiger could not be reckoned as being particularly dangerous because he has a weak jaw. But Greb, ordinarily, has a weak punch, so that's all even. At least, this is the way our friends in the back room figure it.

They also are at some pains to point out that Greb respects Flowers' ability, but the writer sees no reason to count this fact as being in the Tiger's favor. If Greb is to be knocked off at all, it is likely to be done by some sap whom he holds in very light esteem.

Of course, this business of calling the turn on Greb has been going on since Munyon raised his index finger. All the boys have to do, therefore, is to keep on calling and ultimately they will be substantiated in full. Greb is well over 31 and has been fighting since 1913. He trains little or not at all. Yes, the boys are bound to be right some time. All they need is plenty of calls and enough turns. The next one might do as well as any.

Only three members of the Presbyterian five appeared for their game with the Baptists and, as a result, the latter advanced a notch by the forfeit route. Later in the evening, several of the Presbyterian players appeared and in an exhibition game, lost to the Baptists by a 26-22 count.

Sisler Called Baseball Slicker; Puts Over Good Pitching Trades

Takes Title to Four Pitchers While Giving Away One in Two Winter Deals.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 23.—First thing you know, this man Sisler will go down on the lower East Side and start selling hair restorer to the Russians. He seems to be that kind of a city slicker.

A trifle more than a year ago, when George was just a young fellow trying to get along, he held earnest converse with our Mr. Huggins, as a result of which Urban Shocker went to the Yankees. Bush, Girard and Gaston went to the Browns and some of our despondent citizens went to the river. George got the newspaper decision over Mr. Huggins on this occasion without a dissenting vote.

That was his first big trade. His second was swung a few weeks ago when he sent Bush and Johnny Tobin to Washington for Tom Zachary and Vic Ballou. This one may or may not turn out to be a good fast draw, but that is a minor consideration.

The big point is that Sisler, in two deals, has taken title to four pitchers for one. He merely gave away Shocker and, darling, he is growing old. In return, he has Gaston, Girard, Zachary and Ballou, the latter being the only member of the quartet who has yet to prove that he belongs.

The writer maintains that that is smart trading, regardless of whether

Washington or St. Louis benefits most by the last trade. Sisler needed pitchers. He got more than a few. The net result is that plenty of able citizens are picking the Browns to run not worse than second in the American league this year.

The key-men in the recent deal, as the writer sees it, are Tobin and Ballou. Bush and Zachary should prove about a stand-off, although we are inclined to feel that Bush may stake himself to a final fling in 1926 before calling it a career. When both were good, Bush was a better pitcher than Zachary.

As for Tobin, he was a great outfielder until last season when his work fell away almost simultaneously with the rise of Harry Rice. In consequence, Tobin was of no particular value to the Browns. This, by the way, has been one of the features of Sisler's trading to date. He never gives away a player until he can spare him. Shocker had outlasted his welcome in St. Louis some time before the Yankee deal transpired.

Tobin, like Bush, may have one good year left in him. The chances favor it because veterans seem to thrive under Stanley Harris' direction. Ballous did some impressive pinch-pitching in the last world series. At one critical stage, he was rushed in from the bull pen to face Traynor and Wright with a couple of men on, one out and the Pirates needing a run to tie. He fanned the dangerous Traynor on three pitched balls, got two strikes on Wright and on the next pitch forced him to ground out.

In the sixth game, he pitched the ninth inning, passing the first man to face him and retiring the next three in order.

If these performances were at all typical of the young man's ability, Sisler has picked up a live one.

CAMELS VICTORS IN CLOSE GAME

The Camels downed the Flying Eagles last night by a close margin on the Wellsville M. E. court. The score was 22-20. The lineup:

Camels	Flying Eagles
McConnell	F
Davis	F
Hessam	C
Gobbert	G
Tasker	G
Substitutions—	Franklin for Tasker, Watkin for Franklin, Greenwood for Gobbert, Franklin for Hessam.
Field goals—	McConnell 3, Davis 3, Gobbert, Greenwood, Fountaine 3, F. Lincoln, Tyree, J. Lincoln 3.
Foul goals—	McConnell 3, Davis, Franklin, Greenwood, Fountaine 2, Lincoln 4, Tyree.

You've got the goods, Prince Albert

DON'T I know? Didn't I cross the burning sands in search of pipe-contentment? And then you loomed up, like an oasis in the Desert of Doubt. Cool and refreshing, you were, Prince Albert. I'll never forget that first meeting.

Why, you just had everything I wanted in a pipe tobacco. You came zooming up the stem like a breeze through the date palms. You were fragrant as frankincense. You were friendly to my tongue and throat, refusing to mistreat them.

You're still sheik of the smoke-tribe,

Prince Albert. I'm FOR you a hundred per cent. You and my trusty jimmy-pipe go with me everywhere, smoothing out the wrinkles in the roadway of life. The tongue you've been so kind to will always speak a good word in return.

Maybe there are some other chaps roaming the hot-pipe desert, at the mercy of the bedouins of bite and the pirates of parch. I hope they are listening in. I'm putting on all the power I've got to tell them what a lot of comfort is waiting for them in the tidy red tins marked "Prince Albert."

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Negro in Africa Seeks Better Food, Schools British Report Shows

LONDON.—The dusky African savage, as beloved by the writers of the world's best sellers, is now no more. The African negro of today is a semi-civilized, hard-working, and law-abiding citizen, and no longer does he abduct white men and women, steal other people's cattle, and generally make war on civilization.

This was revealed today in a report published by the British government on behalf of the local government of Kenya Colony, a British West African possession, showing the changes which have taken place in the conditions of life in those parts during recent years.

British Banks Differ On What are Luxuries For Ordinary People

LONDON.—Is the world spending too much or too little? Two of the most eminent British bankers, Sir Felix Schuster, chairman of the National Provincial bank, and Walter Leaf, chairman of the Westminster bank, differ profoundly on the point.

expenditure among all classes is far too high," said Schuster, addressing his stockholders. It is no use for the private individual to cry for public economy and the lightening of taxation so that he can spend more.

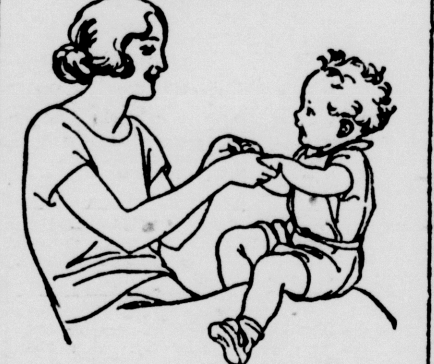

"What are described as necessities are often mere luxuries."

On the other hand, Dr. Walter Leaf took the view that owing to the general improvement in the standard of living among the workers, the general spending power of the community has been materially enhanced to the general benefit of trade.

Q. Which authors lead as the "best sellers?" P. T. F.

A. The list of favorite authors is too long to admit of complete reproduction. One recent compilation names Winston Churchill as leading, followed by Harold Bell Wright, Booth Tarkington, George Barr McCutcheon, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Zane Grey, Gene Stratton Porter, Eleanor H. Porter, William J. Locke, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Gilbert Parker, and Rex Beach in the order named.

Q. Is the hardening of copper a lost art? K. C. L.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that hardening copper is no secret from present day metallurgists, any of whom can produce an edged tool of hardened copper as good as any made in prehistoric times. Copper is not used for such tools because of the

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 948-M Marcellus Avenue, Manhattan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

A. The Biological Survey says that there are 800 species of birds and 1200 subspecies.

Q. What is the lowest temperature ever actually measured? B. W.

Q. Why is the pool in a poker game called a kitty? M. E. H.

A. The probable origin of the term is the old fashioned trick from which we get our modern word cheat. A money box was a kitty, so came the pool in a poker game to be called the kitty, then the kit, and finally, kitty.

"Stepping out" is a new and effective euphemism in the divorce court. John Preston Knox of San Francisco told the judge he wanted a divorce "because my wife wants to step out." She wrote him that he was too slow, he said, and did her "stepping out" with R. C. Diel, a professional automobile racer, much less slow than the husband. The "stepping out" being proved the husband got the divorce.

Lady Cathcart, thanks to a habeas corpus writ, stays with us, and the Aquitania sailed for Europe Saturday with one empty cabin that Secretary Davis had engaged to deport the English woman whose "moral past" offends our high standards.

That cabin in the Aquitania is interesting. The lady did not pay for it, as she was to be sent away against her will. Did Uncle Sam pay for it, and if so, did he engage a private cabin in the Aquitania, first-class, because the lady accused of immorality had a British title?

Many mothers with children, with no past objectionable to our national purity, are deported day after day from Ellis Island in the steerage. Why the discrimination in favor of the charming lady to be sent home because she once eloped with a man not her husband? We seem to mix respect for British rank with our hatred for loose morality.

Secretary Davis with inter- and moral character of the best, says "Lady Vera Cathcart, was seeking advertising and has got it, all right." That may be, but Uncle Sam was not seeking advertising, as a very silly person, and nevertheless, "he has got it all right."

HOW MUCH COAL DO YOU WASTE?

In heating your house you may be throwing away money with every shovelful of coal.

The heating plants of thousands of homes are wasteful, for one reason or another.

It may be that no matter how much fuel you burn, your house is not satisfactorily warmed. The trouble should be located and corrected.

The trouble with your heating plant may be due to the selection of a furnace of the wrong type or size, to faulty installation, poor operation, or to ill-fitting doors and windows.

You may secure a free government publication on the subject which is certain to be of great aid to you if you are having furnace trouble of any kind. BENEDUM CALLS CONFERENCE TO WARN BAN IS ON GAMBLING

Proprietors Asked to Attend Meeting on Friday.

POLICE TO ACT

Licenses of Violators Will be Suspended, Says Mayor.

Marking the first step in a crusade to clean up all places suspected of permitting gambling, Mayor Ralph C. Benedum and Service-Safety Director John W. Moore today called a conference of poolroom proprietors to be held in city hall at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

Games of chance, irrespective of their nature, must be stopped, the mayor will tell the poolroom operators. "We will inform the poolroom managers that we know some of them are violating the laws with respect to gambling," the mayor said. "They will be warned such practices must halt. We will keep these places under observation and arrests will be made for violations."

"For the first offense, the license will be suspended for two weeks during which time the place will be closed. For a second offense the license will be revoked for the balance of the year and possibly during the remainder of my administration."

Approximately a dozen poolroom owners, four in the East End and eight in the downtown section, are to be asked to attend the conference.

One Man Fined $50.
"The police are doing everything in their power to stop poker games and we will demand that the poolrooms be cleaned up at the same time," the mayor declared. "Lookouts who guard front and rear doors of such establishments to give the alarm upon the approach of a uniformed policeman, will not be tolerated."

All poolrooms within the city are licensed and the mayor may revoke these permits at any time.

Frank Herbert paid a fine of $50 and costs after his arrest in the Unique.

ONE MAN SLAIN, THREE WOUNDED BY 'MAD SNIPER' IN NEW YORK

Police Believe Man is Emulating Omaha Maniac.

EAST SIDE CRIME

Subway Employee, Shot From Ambush, May Die.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—New York today developed a "mad sniper" and his toll thus far is one dead and three wounded. All four victims were shot down in the streets apparently without cause. No one saw the assailant.

Police believe that some person reading of the Omaha "mad sniper," who killed two and fired on scores, is emulating the western maniac.

"Happy Jimmy" Barnstony, 35, was shot and killed. His companion, Robert Tannon, 28, was shot in the back. Two other men were brought to hospitals after being mysteriously shot.

Fires Out of Darkness.
All the shootings took place on the East Side. Detectives believe that some madman started uptown and continued down First and Second avenues, taking pot shots as he went.

No witnesses were found who heard the sound of firearms at the time the men fell and it is believed that, like the Omaha killer, New York's "mad sniper" has mounted a silencer on his weapon.

Just as detectives were investigating the third mysterious shooting, Frank Carr, 29, a subway employee, stumbled into Bellevue hospital with two bullets in his back and side. He said somebody had fired out of the darkness and he was only aware of the flashes. He is not expected to live.

CLEVELAND MAN, ILL, KILLS SELF

CLEVELAND, Feb. 23.—John Jiborno, 47, is dead today, a suicide, while his wife and four children slept in an adjoining room. Jiborno left his bed, procured a gun and fired a bullet through his heart. Ill health prompted the act, police said.

SLAYER OF HUSBANDS FEEBLE MINDED, SAYS STATE HOSPITAL CHIEF

Dr. Charles H. Clark, Superintendent of Lima Institution, to Which Self-confessed Poisoner of Seventh and Eighth Spouses Was Committed. Asserts Woman Has no Active Mental Trouble.

SIX-TIME WIDOW, HOWEVER, HAS MENTALITY OF CHILD, HE CLAIMS

Feminine "Bluebeard" Will Not be Returned to Columbiana County for Trial on Charge of Killing Itinerant Pastor Unless Writ of Habeas Corpus is Issued by Court is Declaration.

Mrs. Laura E. Christy, 48, East Liverpool, self-confessed slayer of two of her eight husbands during her 30-year matrimonial career, has no active mental trouble, but is feeble minded, it was declared today by Dr. Charles H. Clark, superintendent of the State Hospital for Criminal Insane at Lima, where the woman was committed on Jan. 21, by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, of Lisbon.

Dr. Clark's statement followed a mental examination of the woman, who was adjudged insane by two East Liverpool physicians at Lisbon on January 20, a week after her arrest here on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of Rev. William Christy, 56, brigadier-general of the United Christian Missionary Society of the United States.

"I made a thorough examination of the woman, traced her history, checked up the story of her marriages and gave her an intelligence test, and I found that she has no active mental disorder, but she is feeble minded," said Dr. Clark.

"She has the mentality of a child between 9 and 10 years of age." She is feeble minded now and probably will be until she dies.

Will Remain in Hospital.
Christy, alleged arsenic poison victim, died in the City hospital on January 13, nine days after the woman became his bride in a ceremony at Beaver, Pa.

Mrs. Christy, according to the police also confessed while a prisoner in the county jail at Lisbon, that she administered poison to her seventh husband, John Ebert, 50, Newell, W. Va., pottery worker, who died on Nov. 7, last, as well as to Christy, whom she married less than two months after she became a widow for the fifth time.

Four other husbands of the woman also died suddenly, police say.

Despite Dr. Clark's report, Mrs. Christy will not be sent back to Columbiana county for trial on a first degree murder charge in connection with the death of Christy, unless a writ of habeas corpus is issued by the physician.

"I will not deport her," the hospital superintendent declared. "She will remain at Lima until a writ is issued by a common pleas judge."

News to County Officials.
The new turn in the case was news to Columbiana county officials.

"I have heard nothing about it," Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes said.

WELLSVILLE HAS HIGHEST CITY TAX RATE IN STATE; COLUMBIANA COUNTY'S RE-APPRAISEMENT OF REAL ESTATE, MADE IN 1924, COST $62,000

Wellsville has the highest city tax rate in the state, it was revealed today in figures, made public in the fifteenth annual report of the Ohio state tax commission.

The current tax rate for 1924 upon which taxes were based for collections made in 1925 for the city of Wellsville was 29.20, while the rate for the preceding year was 29.40, while the levy for 1925 upon which payments are being made this year is 28.70.

While Wellsville paid the highest city tax rate, it was by no means as unfortunate as some of the other taxing districts of the state, the report shows. The village of Crooksville, Perry county, had a rate of 23.60 mills in 1924. The highest tax was 23.80, paid by the Crooksville school district.

The highest average rate, 26.806 mills, is accorded to Perry county.

Findlay, with 15.60 mills, has the lowest city rate, while the lowest village rate, eight mills, is paid by Beechwood, Cuyahoga county.

Reappraisement Expenses.
Cost of Columbiana county's reappraisement of real estate, made in 1924, was $62,000, the tax commission's report shows. The cost of similar work in Cuyahoga county, in which the city of Cleveland is located, was $129,000. In Lucas county, which includes the city of Toledo, the reappraisal cost was $17,500, which is $15,500 less than in Columbiana county; in Jefferson county the cost was $47,956.48; in Franklin county, $189,000, and in Montgomery county, $148,000.

Property owned and controlled by public utilities in Columbiana county decreased $337,040 in valuation with the 1924 reappraisement. Increases were shown in the valuation of railroads, street railways, electric light companies, water works companies, express companies, while decreases were made for the properties of natural gas, pipe line, telegraph and telephone companies.

Valuation of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad company's holdings in the county increased from $7,803,250 in 1923 to $7,994,740 in 1924, a jump of $191,390. Properties of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago and the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western Railroad companies also increased.

Valuation of Public Utilities.
Properties of The Steubenville East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction decreased from $879,940 in 1923 to $877,640 in 1924.

Value of the Newell Street Railway and Bridge company, for that part of its system within East Liverpool was $37,030, or no change from the previous year.

Valuation of the Youngstown & Ohio River railroad in 1924 was $1,827,990 and in 1923 $1,353,680, a decrease of $474,310.

The Youngstown & Suburban railroad from Youngstown to Leetonia had a valuation of $140,340 placed upon its property in 1924 as compared with $146,400 in the previous year.

The biggest decrease in public utility valuations was that of the Manufacturers' Light & Heat company which was reduced from $1,812,180 in 1923 to $686,430 in 1924 a slash of $1,125,750.

The Natural Gas company of West Virginia which at that time served north county communities was given a decrease of $107,420. The total reduction in the valuation of natural gas companies was $1,233,720.

Six electric light companies operating in this county had increased valuations placed on their property in the reappraisement. The Ohio Power company's assessment price was raised from $707,380 to $714,680.

Telephone Company Figures.
The Mahoning Valley Water company is the only privately-owned water company having consumers in property was increased from $15,840 this county. The valuation of this to $17,440.

Properties of the three Columbiana county pipe line companies were decreased $216,590. The American Railway Express company's reappraisal was $14,480 in 1924 and $12,700 in 1923.

Western Union Telegraph company holdings decreased from $59,330 to $58,390.

With Score of Nuggets.

WASHINGTON.—Newspaper dispatches have woven so much fame around the little "button" that the president pushes when he sets big conventions and expositions in motion, hundreds of miles away, that out-of-town sight-seers to the White House have demanded open inspection of the proverbial object.

They have revealed that the "button" is a telegraph key—except for the point of contact, the entire instrument is solid gold, mounted on a slab of Alaskan marble and studded with a score of gold nuggets—the first that came out of the Klondike when gold was struck there.

This famous instrument had served since 1909 as the presidential point of electrical contact when he "starts things going."

Its First Use.

The key was presented to President Taft by George W. Carmack, discoverer of gold in Alaska, and was originally used to open the famous Alaskan-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle, June 1, 1909. This ceremony was performed in the East room of the White House before one of the most distinguished audiences ever assembled there.

Four presidents and as many first ladies of the land have since used the key in opening some of the epoch-making events of the last fifteen years. Edward Smithers, chief telegrapher of the White House, is the guardian of the instrument, having been given it by President Taft. Whenever there is an important "button pushing" at the White House, Smithers uncovers the key and lends it for service.

The most famous incident in which the key has served was that on October 10, 1913, when President Wilson, touching it in the East room of the White House, blew up the Gamboa Dyke of the Panama Canal, virtually completing the ten years' work of American engineers in making the first ship connection between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Used by Wilson.

Only President Wilson and Smithers were present on this occasion, despite the tremendous significance of the event throughout the world.

A year and a half later, on January 1, 1915, President Wilson arose from bed at 3 o'clock in the morning, went down stairs alone, and pressed the golden key to open the Panama-California Exposition in San Diego. Two months later, on February 20, 1915, he opened the Panama-Pacific Exposition in the same manner.

The most notable part the key has played since was on September 27, 1924 when President Coolidge opened the Skagit Hydro Electric Plant at Seattle.

Mrs. Coolidge has used the key several times, twice during the past year—to open the Women's World's Fair in Chicago on April 18, 1925, and to open the charity bazaar of the Lenox Neighborhood Association at Grand Central Palace, New York, on December 12.

Germany now has 31,000 miles of railways.

New Cold Storage Plans Makes Possible Rare Fruit Shipments

LIVERPOOL, England.—Discovery of a new method of cold storage and preservation of fruit which is expected to supersede cold storage and make possible the importation of rare fruits, is announced by Professor John McLean Thompson, professor of botany at Liverpool university.

By means of a simple apparatus, Professor Thompson's method may be said to put fruit to sleep. The air in the room in which the fruit is stored is kept at a steady temperature and humidity, with the result that the fruit goes to sleep and does not deteriorate.

It is hoped to be able to adopt the method to ship's holds.

Mae Murray Film And Vaudeville on Strand Program

Beautiful scenes, daring and gorgeous costumes, gripping mystery and a sensational denouement—plus Mae Murray—this is the formula for one of the smashing successes of the screen year. It is "The Masked Bride," Mae Murray's startling new picture of Paris life and an underworld plot, now playing at the Strand theatre in connection with a Keith vaudeville bill.

Christy Cabanne, who directed the new feature, has given the screen public a story that transforms Miss Murray literally into a different creature. She is a radiant personality; a flashing butterfly in a swirl of frivolity; then, suddenly, as danger threatens the man she loves, the mask drops, and from the tinsel emerges a woman, ready to sacrifice her own life in the fight for her lover's happiness.

It is a dramatic theme as big as the settings in which it is played—for it is staged on a scale approaching the spectacular. Gorgeous Parisian cafes—where laughter rules—even though hearts may be seething in rage under the disguise of gaiety; strange underworld haunts where the scum of Paris gathers, pathetically eager to be happy.

Jack Low of Ohio avenue visited his brother, Billie, who is a patient at Allegheny general hospital, Pittsburgh on Sunday.

NEW ROAD SIGNS FOR HIGHWAYS

Dies for the manufacture of direction and warning signs for the national and state highways in West Virginia have been cast and their manufacture is soon to begin in the road commission's plate factory at Nitro.

The signs recommended by the national marking committee have been approved by the road commission. The danger signals will be black and yellow and these will be the same on the state and national trails. It is not known at present when the task of putting up the new markers will be carried out, but it is believed it will be done by the time the tourist season begins.

The present red and white state markings on bridges and posts along the state roads will be abandoned, it was said today.

Steel for the making of the dies was ordered by the road commission several weeks ago. The designs were worked out by the engineering department of the road commission following the models approved by the national parking committee.

The markers will be put up at dangerous points and at cross roads.

Bert Lytell Stars With Anita Stewart In Ceramic Picture

"Never the Twain Shall Meet" was presented on the screen at the Ceramic theatre last night. The new film, presented by the Cosmopolitan Corporation, and released by Metro-Goldwyn, is a picturization of Peter B. Kyne's South Sea tale of the same name, and proved to be one of the most exceptional and enchanting pictures of the year. It combines an excellent cast, pictorial backgrounds of charm and beauty and a fast-moving story with drama, pathos and comedy mixed in exactly the correct proportion for perfect screen entertainment.

In the making of this picture Maurice Tourneur, the director, took a notable company to Tahiti and Moorea for the filming of the scenes on the actual locale described by the author.

Anita Stewart, in the leading feminine role of Tamea, a half-caste island princess, has never been lovelier or more bewitching than in the native costume of the South Seas.

Bert Lytell, as the young American scion of wealth and social position, who gives up his wealth for the half-caste girl, has an unusual opportunity for displaying his powers of character delineation.

The other members of the cast are equally excellent in their respective roles. Justine Johnstone, as a beautiful young woman of society, is extraordinarily interesting, as is Huntley

How to Stop That Weakening Cough

Why let a heavy, stubborn cough wear you down when you can get speedy relief and often break it up completely in 24 hours through a remarkable new method based on the famous Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs?

Here is the method: You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. It has a double action. It not only soothes and heals irritation, but also removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. So with the cause removed the worst cough soon disappears.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children, too—no harmful drugs. Very economical, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

Two Views of Fires

During their observance of a fire prevention day, citizens of La Salle, Ill., were told some of the differences between the American and the European attitudes toward fire hazards.

The tendency in the United States is to build hurriedly of combustible materials. Europe constructs slowly of solid masonry. Americans cheerfully pay high insurance rates to cover fire hazards. Europeans secure lower rates by maintaining safer conditions. America has elaborate and expensive fire extinguishing apparatus. Europe's lack in this line is compensated for in its more thorough methods of fire prevention.

Here, fire is regarded as a misfortune, and sympathy is given the owner of the destroyed property. "Abroad, fire is looked upon as a crime; investigation follows and culpable persons are punished. Here, fire insurance is supposed to prevent loss to the owner of the property. Europeans understand that you can't burn down a building without incurring loss, and they realize that ultimately the whole community is taxed for such waste.

The American point of view seems to be that the insurance money has been exchanged for the destroyed property. The foreign point of view is that there has been an absolute loss of resources for which the owner can be only partly indemnified.

If Americans can be made to take fire prevention more seriously by converting them to the foreign point of view, somebody should undertake and carry through the necessary educational drive to that end.

Clothing Extremes

A 70-year-old merchant of Franklin, O., attending the annual convention of the National Retail Dry Goods association, summed up the differences between his customers of half a century ago and of today.

"In those days," he remarked, "we used to sell 20 yards of silk for one dress. Now a woman buys three yards and considers that it is more than enough. Then there were only three or four shades of silks to be obtained, now there are hundreds.

"The men of 50 years ago were superstitious beyond all believing in the matter of what they wore. In winter it had to be medicated red flannel underwear, and only a few people of the better class could be induced to wear white merino."

And those were the "good old days." The three yards of silk as against 20 yards indicate a great advance in health, in simplicity, in freedom, in leisure. The medicated red flannels were supposed to keep people healthy, but they would be of little less use to city dwellers now.

As long as the "golden mean" remains so difficult of attainment by mere human beings—we should rejoice that we are living in the period of extremely light clothing instead of the red flannel period.

The Bright Child

Ruth Horn, of Brooklyn, N. Y., aged 9, is ready for the senior high school. She has done eight years' work in the elementary school in less than four years. "Everything's easy to me," she says.

So she will probably go right on, skipping classes through the high school and college, and emerging as a Bachelor Girl of Arts at 14 or 15.

Poor kid! There is no childhood for the precocious, and little of the glory of youth. They must jump straight from infancy to maturity, slaves of book and blackboard and test paper, sacrificing body and soul for brain. And then what?

They do not always rush on so briskly through life. A youthful genius who finished Harvard some years ago with high honors at 14 was discovered recently living wretchedly in a hall bedroom in New York.

Life is more than school work, and only through full living and normal growth can children be educated for life.

Registered Treaties

More than 1,000 treaties have now been registered with the league of nations. This alone many friends of the league regard as justifying that body's existence and expense.

This is one phase of the league's activity, however, which the general public seems scarcely to appreciate as much as it deserves. Of course, it is possible for nations to register 1,000 treaties frankly and openly and still to prepare a few in secret. But the secret treaty is invalid from the start and is bound to lose favor and power little by little as the registered treaty gains them.

Registered treaties are much less likely to be regarded as "scraps of paper" than the old sort, which concerned only the treaty-making nations.

It is all a matter of growth and development in national minds.

We note with some misgivings that the proposed revision of the calendar would give us 13 months, and every month would have a Friday-the-thirteenth. Heaven help us on the thirteenth of December!

Now that everybody is going to the Mediterranean or the West Indies or around the world or just south or something, it's getting to be quite exclusive to stay at home.

HASKIN'S LETTER

The New Education Bill.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 23.—Joint hearings are about to begin in congress on the new education bill which was introduced at the beginning of this session. The bill, which provides for a Department of Education with a secretary in the president's cabinet, is sponsored in the senate by Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, and in the house by Representative Daniel A. Reed, of New York. It could scarcely have a more propitious introduction since Senator Curtis is the Republican floor leader in the senate, and Representative Reed is now the chairman of the Committee on Education in the house.

In 1867 congress established a Department of Education but without representation in the president's cabinet. Two years later this department was reduced to the status of a bureau and has continued as such ever since. The National Education association has many times petitioned congress for the reestablishment of a Department of Education with a secretary in the cabinet. Nothing has ever come of this, however.

In 1918 the president of the National Education Association, who at that time was Mrs. Henry C. Bradford, state superintendent of public instruction of Colorado, appointed a commission to inquire concerning the emergency in education. This commission reported in favor of the establishment of a Department of Education in the cabinet, with further federal support for education. A bill embodying these recommendations was introduced into congress, and has been reintroduced at each succeeding session of congress.

Most of the opposition to the bill seemed to be centered in the provision for additional aid from the federal government. It was realized that there is little prospect of receiving favorable action on such a bill, and accordingly, last year the legislative commission of the National Education association sought the cooperation of leaders in education throughout the country in drafting a new bill. After much study on the part of a great many people, and after several conferences, the bill as presented to congress last December was finally drafted.

The new education bill, as it is frequently referred to, provides for the creation of a Department of Education with a secretary in the president's cabinet, but it does not call for federal aid to the states.

To Be a Clearing House.

The proposed Department of Education is to be in a general way a clearing house of educational interests. That is, it is to conduct research work so that there may be collected statistics and facts showing the condition and progress of education in the several states and in foreign countries. Research work will also be conducted which will aid materially in establishing and maintaining more efficient schools and school systems in this country. It is explained that such research can be more efficiently done by a central organization than it could be by the individual school systems. Great duplication of effort may be avoided by having the work done by the federal government.

Those supporting the new bill are anxious to stress the point that there is no thought of the federal government's usurping the authority of the states and municipalities over their schools. The Department of Education would in no way attempt to interfere with the conduct of the schools by the individual states or cities. That this is very clearly understood in educational circles is said to be indicated by the fact that the bill has the support of an overwhelming majority of school officials throughout the country.

The results of research work done by the department would be available to parochial and private schools, as well as to public schools. It is expected that such a department would be of immense service to all educational enterprises.

As is well known there are many educational activities under the federal government, and it is believed that these might better be conducted under one head. It is therefore proposed that to the Department of Education be transferred the Bureau of Education and the Federal Board of Vocational Education. Since the latter is to function as a division of the Department of Education, the secretary of that department is to be a member of the board and ex-officio chairman. Under the new bill the authority, powers, and duties conferred and imposed upon the secretary of the interior regarding the Columbia Institution for the Deaf and Howard University would be transferred to the secretary of education.

Educational Conference Proposed.

Aside from these educational activities of the federal government there are other departments of the government having educational programs. In order that their work may be coordinated it is suggested that a federal conference on education be created. This conference is to consist of one representative and one alternate to be appointed by the head of each department.

There are some who are of the opinion that the proposed program might be carried out by the Bureau of Education if it were enlarged. Advocates of a new department, however, say that such would not be feasible. They give as one of their reasons that it is important to bring about the consolidation of federal agencies concerned with education, and no one would seriously propose that this could be accomplished through the development of the Bureau of Education, the undertaking being of greater importance than that associated with the status of a bureau in the department of the interior.

If educational research is to be adequately supported, it is argued, it will be necessary that this function of the federal government be presented for the consideration of those who make the budget by one of no less rank than a cabinet officer. All matters of national concern involve education, and it is contended that it is of the utmost importance that the representative of this most important governmental service sit at the council table of the nation.

Those working for the bill now in committee emphasize their belief that a consolidation of educational agencies will effect both efficiency and economy.

This bill for the establishment of a federal Department of Education is distinct from the issue of additional federal support to the state. It is said that the support of research in a federal Department of Education will bring returns in increased efficiency and in actual savings which will amount to many times the cost of the researches.

The new education bill has not only the support of educators all over the country, but has been endorsed by many large organizations such as the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the American Nurses' association, and the Supreme Council, Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, Southern Jurisdiction. Its advocates are hopeful that it will be favorably passed upon after the hearings this month.

Britain is Becoming Nation of Men Clerks, Fears Lord Southwark

LONDON — Britain is in danger of becoming a nation of clerks, according to Lord Southwark, a well known figure in the world of commerce here. His lordship's contention is supported by many other prominent Englishmen.

Addressing the annual meeting of the British Chambers of Commerce at Bath, Lord Southwark deplored the increasing tendency of the English state schools to turn out boys whose only qualifications were clerical, and declared that the worship of the black coat among Englishmen had resulted in the market being flooded.

"Businessmen are agreed," he said, "that the present English system of elementary education tended to produce and increase unduly the supply of clerical assistants."

"This craze to become a clerk has resulted in the market being flooded with clerks and unemployed, who have a smattering of all subjects but are masters of none."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. MCINTYRE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 23.—At the races yesterday I met many famous people—some for the first time. Ed Howe, the Kansas philosopher, and I have exchanged many letters but never met. In many ways he appeals to me one of our sanest thinking, kind, fearless and uncompromising. He has been seasoned by the ripe experience of his years. Mr. Howe is past 70. He wore a miniature Elbert Hubbard flowing tie. For the benefit of bright paragoning kidders, he was otherwise fully clothed. One meets Dudley Field Malone, international lawyer, everywhere. He was here.

He has participated in many famous divorces and Bill Hogg called his "America's highest common divisor." I was especially impressed with Gene Tunney, the pugilist. While we were talking incidentally, Jack Dempsey walked by with his wife. The pugilist bowed rather aloofly.

"There's the champion," said Tunney, and changed the subject. Tunney is a clean-living fellow with a boyish manner. I think most people want to see him land the next championship. Dempsey's fighting record has never appealed to me. His victories have been chiefly over second-rate stars. Gene Sarazen, the celebrated golfer, is a bronzed young man of slight build and pleasing manner. Kin Hubbard, whose homely and quaint Abe Martin philosophy has convulsed the world, was on hand. I have known him for several years. And he is always interesting.

Kin did not start writing until he was 38. He confesses to a longing and futile ache to be a minstrel man. He has a trunk filled with tambourines, dancing shoes and other minstrel paraphernalia. John McE. Bowman, the hotel man, flushed with the triumph of his new inn at Coral Gables, was also present.

Marquis—you know Gloria's husband—was there. He told me he had a sudden hunch. He played "Brainstorm" and smiled at his wife. Flo Ziegfeld, Billie Burke, Gene Buck, Sailing Baruch, the former Irene Castle and several others came over from Palm Beach.

Prize fighters, I believe, have more fawning sycophants dog-trotting at their heels than any others in the public eye. If a pug goes out for a walk he soon resembles a moving caravan. Several defended Dempsey for not fighting Wills. One asked me: "Would you fight a negro?" I can see no reason why not, if I were a pugilist. Some of our most illustrious white fighters have. It is a profession whose chief asset is brute strength. There may have been a more finished fighter than Joe Gans, a colored man, but I have not seen him. The negro is not barred in literature, the stage or concert singing, and I see no reason for his being barred in the lesser profession of pugilism.

Will Rogers dropped by after playing polo all afternoon. Being a Californian, and the rivalry being what it is, all his interviewers bombarded him, he said, with questions about the weather. He straddled the issue by praising both climates. Bill looks very awkward in a polo helmet. He is going to California soon to write his memoirs.

After Bill left I stretched out on a side lawn to sun myself—Florida fashion. Much of my attire was left to imagination. I was half conscious someone was approaching and sat up like a startled dreamer. I saw a horrified lady rushing for her automobile. My belated apology, whoever she is, I wasn't expecting company. Bill Rogers is used to semi-nudity. He has been in the Folies for years.

One of the many beautiful ladies I have seen in Florida is Mrs. Edwin Simpson. A number of years ago in New York I introduced her to the gentleman who is now her husband.

EVE'S TWO LOVERS

EDGAR POE NORRIS

Four.

The day that John Ingate was thirty his mother, watching the way he conducted himself in the company of the young women she had assembled at his birthday party, decided that he was "woman-proof"; that he would never marry. He was coldly formal and courteous with them, and apparently bored. They were all the young women of the town she deemed sufficient eligible to be her daughter-in-law.

The truth of the matter was that he was "fed up" on his mother's and his sister's interference in his affairs, and indefinitely associated their ways with all of the women of his class.

Mrs. Ingate had been disturbed by the spectacle, and yet not ill-pleased. It was irregular for a man not to want to continue a family tradition handed down to him by his grandfather and father in turn; that there must be a John Ingate trained and ready to step into the presidency of John Ingates' Sons, Inc., when it was vacated by death. On the other hand, she disliked the idea of living a lonely life, with both of her children married. She had resolved never to live with either, and have grandchildren under foot, and daughters-in-law looking upon her as an intruder.

Naturally the news that John was seriously in love with this MacLurie girl was disturbing. For two reasons. It would be a social comedown, she felt. Furthermore, it would make it certain that she would never see John. For she could never even visit John if he married Eve MacLurie. Their magazines were different, and uncompromising. They would never be able to get along, it was plain. At the very moment when John Ingate, in the privacy of his office, was proposing marriage to Eve MacLurie, his mother was weeping upon her pillow in the stuffy old suite in the ancient Ingate mansion that she would not allow to be changed.

Eve, facing her employer, could not blurt out what was upon her lips. Some power held a finger upon her mouth.

"It is because you don't love me?" John pressed.

Impulsively she shook her head.

His eyes brightened and he leaped toward her. "Oh, Eve, my dear—"

"Wait, John wait!" It was the first time she had ever called him by his first name. "Wait—I love Clay, too."

John Ingate, in the act of grabbing her into his arms, stopped stark still.

"Then you don't love me?"

"Yes—Oh, John, I love you both. I do."

He studied her, puzzled.

"I do," she repeated, trying to make him understand.

"I don't see how you can love both of us," he said slowly.

"But I do. I've—Oh, I've been in torment since yesterday. I've tried to decide. I think I have—"

"No, Eve, I don't think you love both of us. You love Clay, or you love me." His eyes held hers relentlessly, seeking the truth.

"Oh, why can't I love both of you?" she broke out in anguish. "A mother can love two children—or six. . . Is there only one man in all the world for each woman? Only one woman in the world for each man only one—"

John Ingate sat down again, stiffly.

"What would you say Eve, if I told you that I loved two women—that I loved another as much as I loved you; no less and no more?" He was puzzled, distraught.

"I would believe it if you told me so, John," she replied with passionate earnestness.

The response struck him silent for a moment. He wanted to believe her, but couldn't.

"I'm afraid it is Clay you love, Eve," he said huskily. "You just don't want to tell me. . . If you really loved me, you would not doubt it; you would be sure." He arose. "I—perhaps we'd better. . ."

She comprehended that he thought they ought to separate; that either he or she ought to leave the office. She also arose. Her legs trembled, she shivered; she sat down again.

John Ingate made as if to go, then turned. "I think I understand, Eve, you don't want to hurt me. I understand. That's good of you, Eve. I like you for it." His voice was husk-

ier. "I think I'll go." He grabbed a hat and went out.

Eve sat staring after him. He didn't, he wouldn't understand. . . Clay would. . . Yes, Clay would. . . She would go to Clay now. . . Her heart was suddenly at ease.

The door opened as she was going toward it, and John Ingate re-entered the room. She was startled by the change in his expression. He seemed like a new man. He had fought a battle with himself. He looked confident now. He was John Ingate, the businessman, again. The other John Ingate, the lover, had gone out.

"I hope you are feeling better," he said, not unkindly, but with repressed feeling. "If you wish, you may go home for the rest of the day. . . I am sorry I lost control of myself."

Eve eyed him wonderingly. She hadn't supposed he could be like this the man she loved. He was apologizing, regretfully, for having told her he loved her, as if he realized now that he had made a mistake. She felt humiliated.

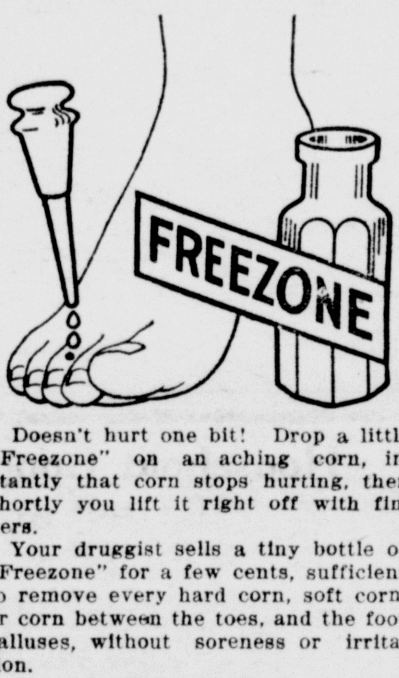

"I think I will, Mr. Ingate," she said. "I'll have Miss Copley come in and finish the dictation." She opened the door.

"Wait, Eve, wait. . . Please close the door." He repeated the order as she hesitated.

"As a friend, Eve," he went on, "I want to say a few things to you. As a friend. Please think this matter over carefully. I'm not considering myself now. . . Clay is a weak fellow. He's spoiled. He has a temper. . . He, Oh it's caddish of me to talk about him, but I don't think you've considered him deeply enough, Eve. He's weak, I tell you."

Made Profit of $10,000 In Only Three Weeks

By simply following the advice of friends, Mr. Owen Carr, aged 71 years, and a lifelong resident of Bridgeport, Ohio, considers himself $10,000 better off within a period of three weeks. This is how it happened: For four years or more Mr. Carr was a sufferer from rheumatism, and neuritis, and recently sustained a stroke of paralysis. His stomach was in bad shape, and coupled with his other major ailments, life was simply a misery to him. Upon advice of friends, after having taken as he says, "Barrels of medicine without results," he began a treatment of Kadi-ok, the wonderful herbal system builder and stomach tonic. In three weeks, Mr. Carr declared to the Kadi-ok representative, he was a well man, and considers himself $10,000 better off.

This is a genuine statement coming from a most grateful friend of Kadi-ok, and what Kadi-ok did for Mr. Carr has done for thousands of others and will continue to do for many thousand more, if sufferers will give it a chance by taking a treatment.

Kadi-ok is sold in East Liverpool at Mathews' Cut Rate Store and other drug stores.

Miss Talmadge Has Two Roles in Film Hit at American

An intimate picture of life behind the scenes in romantic old Vienna is given in "Her Sister From Paris," Constance Talmadge's new starring picture, produced by Joseph M. Schenck for First National, at the American theatre.

Constance plays two distinctly different roles, one a lovely but timid young housewife and the other a brazen, boisterous Parisian dancer. The two characters are twin sisters. The story is laid in romantic Vienna and has to do with a wife who thinks her husband doesn't love her because he consistently fails to demonstrate his affection. So she leaves him and assumes the character of her stage-dancer sister.

In this disguise she charms him so completely that he even elopes with her, but awakens from his fascination in time to realize that he loves, after all, none but his own wife.

As the story unfolds, entrancing glimpses are shown of life in the homes of Vienna, and behind the scenes of the theatres. The concluding sequence takes place in a lonely old tavern in the forest, relic of the ancient days of old Viennese gaiety.

Constance is supported by a noteworthy cast headed by Ronald Colman, George K. Arthur and Gertrude Claire. Sidney Franklin, who has directed some of her greatest successes, directed this new starring vehicle.

The story is an original by Hans Kraly.

Treat Colds 2 Ways

With ONE Treatment

WHEN rubbed over throat and chest for all kinds of cold troubles Vicks VapoRub does two things at once:

(1) Its ingredients are vaporized by the body heat and inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing, and

(2) At the same time it warms and stimulates the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the soreness and pain and thus aiding the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

This double action of Vicks usually relieves the most stubborn cold over night.

PROVIDE FUND FOR "NARROWS"

Set Aside $18,000 for Improvement Job at Creek.

Representatives of the Ohio Good Roads Federation at Columbus today announced that the 1926 state highway program calls for an outlay of $120,000 for the maintenance, resurfacing and repair of 59.5 miles of highway in Jefferson county and $18,000 for the improvement of the Yellow Creek "Narrows." A number of other major projects are also being worked out but no conclusions have yet been reached. Announcement is made that the state highway department has ordered one of its big steam shovels sent to the Yellow Creek Narrows.

The inter-county highway program calls for reconstruction work on Section R of Inter-county Highway Number 7. The county highway program calls for improvements on the Shant-Costanza road, Pine Grove Church-Hammondsville road, the Richmond-Praro road, and the resurfacing of the Bloomfield-Boston road and the Wells Creek road. The township program calls for work on the Mingo-Gould road, now under construction.

On the inter-county system in Jefferson county there are 20.25 miles of brick; 15.14 concrete; 10.3 penetration macadam; 12.4 water-bound macadam; 43.2 traffic-bound macadam and 17.4 miles of gravel, etc. The total improved mileage is 101.29 and the unimproved mileage 17.40 miles.

On the county highway system there are .50 miles of brick; 143 water-bound macadam and 62.5 of traffic-bound macadam. The total improved mileage is 206.3 and the unimproved 60.5.

The federation favors continuing the work on the state highway system, widening and resurfacing the heavy traffic roads leading into the large cities, replacing old and dangerous bridges with new ones and starting a program for the elimination of the most hazardous grade crossings. Rather than suspend highway work in the state for several years, as is now threatened, the federation favors the restoration of the half mill state road levy, provided no more practicable method of raising funds is proposed.

Is Age Controlled by Glands?

Dr. Serge Voronoff, of France, famous physician and surgeon, who has devoted years to research and experimentation with glandular treatment, says: "A man is worth only as much as his glands."

Dr. Arnold Lorand says in his book, "Old Age Deferred," in speaking of the glands: "We must insist upon the reinforcement of their functions if changed by age or disease by means of extracts obtained from the similar organs of healthy animals."

The new scientific formula—Glandogen—embodies this method. Glandogen is a highly concentrated gland compound in convenient, compact tablet form which combines the important extracts of the vital glands of healthy young animals with other efficacious ingredients. Hundreds of keen-eyed men and women are today taking Glandogen. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Mathews' Cut Rate Store will supply you.

Dominions Ask Date For Imperial Meet; May be Held in 1927

LONDON.—The Prime Ministers of the dominions have been asked by the Cabinet to agree upon a date for the next Imperial conference. It has not yet been decided whether the conference will be held this year or in 1927.

Many important problems will be taken up at the next conference, including the question of the method adopted by the London government in consulting the dominions in regard to foreign affairs. Questions of imperial defense, overseas settlement, immigration, and tariff are also to be discussed.

The last Imperial conference was held in October, 1923. When the first conference was held in 1887 it was planned to have a similar meeting every four years, but the program has not been observed, although conferences have been assembled in 1894, 1897, 1902, 1907, 1909, 1911, 1914, 1916 and 1917.

123,500 LIVES EXACTED SINCE 1917 BY AUTOS

Last Year's Death List Contains 24,000 Victims.

RECORD SOARING

Secretary of Commerce Hoover Cites Appalling Toll.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Automobile accidents have cost the United States 123,500 lives since 1917—more than were killed in the World war—according to statistics made public today by the department of commerce.

On the 1925 death list were 24,000 victims, 2.5 per cent greater than in 1924. Unless emergency measures are taken to check a menace that has grown annually since the automobile became the principal means of transportation this year's fatalities will show another increase.

The automobile fatalities made up about 15 per cent of the total deaths due to accidents of all kinds in 1925. There were about five deaths to every 4,000 registered automobiles.

Draft Report for Conference. Details of motor accidents for the past few years were issued as a report to the National Street and Highway conference which will meet in Washington, March 23, 24 and 25.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has under consideration a number of plans to bring to public attention the appalling losses faced by the country as a result of what are considered partially preventable accidents.

Hoover has a number of experts at work in cooperation with committees of the conference to devise methods of restoring pre-war safety on automobile streets and highways.

Responsibility for a part of the fall-down in traffic law enforcement is laid at the door of municipal and state courts through their failure to assess heavy jail sentences against flagrant violators.

Hoover's Recommendations.

Government officials, however, consider the present laws entirely inadequate to meet what was termed by Hoover a "national emergency." Included in the suggested legislative remedies are the following:

- 1. State laws providing penitentiary sentences to persons convicted of driving while intoxicated and for flagrant cases of reckless driving.
- 2. Uniformity of state and municipal traffic laws to eliminate widespread confusion among motorists arising from complexity and variations in regulations.
- 3. Establishment of a federal commission for the preparation of model traffic laws.
- 4. Compulsory jail sentences for persons convicted of traffic violations which endanger life.

WHISKY BILL ISSUE IN SUIT

"Illegal Transaction" Defense in Court Fight Over $875.

A whisky bill, it is alleged, is the issue in the suit of Alfred T. Flaig, Allison street, against John H. Weaver, former resident here, for $875, which will be heard tomorrow by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley.

It is claimed that the bill was the result of an "illegal transaction" inasmuch as it represented the purchase of "whisky and other intoxicating liquors."

Tony Cascio, 643 St. Clair avenue, has sued the Allied Motor Mutual Insurance company, Youngstown, for $400 insurance on an automobile stolen November 17, 1925. He is represented by Attorney G. S. Thompson.

Mrs. Mary Emmerling, 933 May street, has entered suit against Lawrence Hought, 607 Edgewood avenue, to collect a $167.24 grocery bill.

Gunmen Kill Two St. Paul Patrolmen, Escape in Auto

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 23.—Pumping a score of bullets into their victims while they lay helpless with wounds, two gunmen escaped in an automobile today after shooting down and killing two St. Paul patrolmen.

The dead: Patrolman John Schultz, gun squad car driver.

Patrolman Fred A. Poitsch, member of a gun squad.

Fifteen of St. Paul's underworld were jailed within two hours after the shooting.

MINER KILLED BY ROCK SLIDE

POMEROY, O., Feb. 23.—Authorities today were investigating a rock slide in mine No. 16, of the Pittsburgh Coal company, late yesterday which took the life of W. H. Cole, 42, a miner.

More than five tons of rock gave way above where Cole was working on a loading machine, killing him instantly. Several miners were in the mine at the time. Cole was the only one injured.

Dr. Singer, of the Gorgas Memorial institute, says mosquitoes kill every year 3,000,000 human beings, by implanting germs of malaria in their blood.

This loss Mr. Singer estimates at $100,000,000 a year, rather a low estimate, $33 dollars a head. Even a man with malaria should be worth more than that.

If three million people, or 3,000 died in some dramatic way, government would do something about it. But what happens quietly, following a mosquito bite, arouses slight attention.

Nathan Straus, who has done more to protect child life than any other man, said long ago, "If one young child were put to death publicly, with a crowd looking on, those guilty would be executed, and national excitement would know no limit. But a hundred thousand children can be put to death quietly by sellers of impure milk and nobody pays any attention."

Mrs. Straus fortunately did pay attention, and cut down the death rate among very young children by at least half.

The Prince of Wales takes leprosy in the British empire more seriously than our government takes malaria in the United States. In all the British empire, Africa, everywhere, there are 200,000 lepers. The prince urges his government to stamp out the disease.

We have in America, millions suffering from malaria, which like leprosy destroys usefulness, and causes death.

To drain swamps where mosquitoes breed, in the meanwhile using flying machines to "dust" the swamps with a dust deadly to mosquitoes, but harmless to human beings, would soon end the malaria plague in the United States.

Jacob Haish, who invented barbed wire and an automatic machine for its manufacture, is dead, 99 years old. Cattlemen and farmers will bless his memory and hope he went straight to heaven.

Horses and other animals torn on his barbed wire will feel differently, especially the thousands of western cattle, that, drifting before a storm, were stopped by weak strands of barbed wire and lay down to die.

In the other world, inventor Haish will find thousands of men hung up by barbed wire entanglements and ridiculed with shot during the big war. He never planned that.

Dr. Charles E. Barker tells you how to live to 100. Drink 10 or 12 glasses of water each day, exercise every morning before you start the day's work, eat little meat, take a teaspoon of salt each morning in a glass of warm water, and two tablespoons of bran in water each night. Many would prefer not to live 100 years.

The German Aero-Lloyd, combining Germany's flying companies, is starting 42 flying lines, reaching all Germany and many foreign countries. One day flights from Berlin to Moscow are part of the program. Since the end of the war Germany, forbidden by the allies to manufacture flying machines, has had to content herself with planes having no engines. She is now making up for lost time, and sets an example needed in this country.

DEATH ROLL

Edward P. Densmore, Edward P. Densmore, 30 years old, Fairview street, died last night in the City hospital, following a 12 days' illness of peritonitis.

Deceased, who was born here, is survived by his wife, three children, Louis, Virginia and Ruth; his mother, Mrs. Mary V. Densmore; three brothers, Fred, Earl and Robert, and three sisters, Laura, Irene and Ruth, all of this city. His father was the late Reuben J. Densmore.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning in the St. Aloysius Catholic church, in charge of Rev. Thomas E. Walsh. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

Friends can view the body at the home of his mother, 843 Fairview street.

Wellsville's High Taxes

town and Winona Central companies. The Ohio Telephone and Telegraph and the Farmers' and Merchants' companies were the only telephone companies in this county whose property increased in value.

Valuation of public utilities in 1923 was $23,659,770, compared with $22,852,730 in 1924. All but $153,420 of the $22,852,730 worth of property owned by utilities in 1924 was used in their operation, the report shows.

Earnings Are Reported.

The total valuation of The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Tractor companies in Columbiana and Jefferson counties was $1,953,260 in 1923 and $1,948,030 in 1924, a decrease of $5,230. Gross earnings for the year ending June 30, 1923, were $388,071, and for the year ending June 30, 1924, $378,195. The street car lines in this district were idle for a greater part of the period covered by the 1923 report, which is responsible for the big difference in the earnings.

Gross earnings of the Manufacturers' Light and Heat company for the year ending June 30, 1924, increased to $1,446,238 from $1,205,291 for 12 months ending June 30, 1923.

Tax duplicate of county jumped from $110,529,820 in 1923 to $131,306,840 in 1924, an increase of $20,777,020.

Valuation of non-taxable property in 1924 exceeded the duplicate total, the report shows. Schools, churches, cemeteries, municipal, township, state and federal owned property, charitable institutions and lodge homes, which are non-taxable, are valued at $185,211,590.

East Liverpool's tax duplicate in 1922 was $24,783,600; in 1923, $25,472,980, and in 1924, $31,976,830. Taxes levied from East Liverpool property in 1924 totalled $660,001.04.

ROTARIANS SEE PHONE MOVIES

Frank Swaney Outlines Bell History in East Liverpool.

History of the telephone, 50 years old this year, was graphically presented in motion pictures at the meeting of the Rotary club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. today. The title of the film was "Making Telephone History."

Frank Swaney, commercial manager of the East Liverpool exchange, told of its introduction here in 1880, when 18 telephones were installed. The first female operator employed by a telephone company was placed in charge of the local exchange, he declared. Swaney was introduced by Harry Middleton, chairman of the meeting.

Call for the annual district conference of the 21st district, which will be held in Youngstown on April 15 and 16, was read by President Frank L. Wells. The call was issued by Leonard Skeggs, Youngstown, district governor. Delegates from the local club, named by President Wells, are Charles R. Boyce and Malcolm Thompson, while the alternates are C. W. Arnold and Lawrence Smith. Attorney Blaine H. Cochran will be leader of the song directors' breakfast and round table discussion which will be held on the morning of the second day and song leader of the district dinner which will be held that evening.

Members of the local club have been invited to attend an inter-city meeting, which will be held in Steubenville on Friday, March 5. Members of the Carrollton and Coshocton clubs will also take part in the session. A committee, consisting of J. M. Wells, Lawrence Smith, Dr. Samuel Rich and Martin Abbott, was named to arrange for the trip. A special car may be chartered.

C. J. Zange will be chairman of next week's meeting, at which directors will be nominated. The election will take place at the first session in April. The educational committee of which C. W. Arnold is chairman will have charge of the meeting on Tuesday, March 9.

TROOPS GUARD NON-UNION MEN

Soldiers on Duty as Indiana Coal Mines Operate.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 23.—With the arrival of National guard troops sent here by Adjutant General Wm. H. Kershner at Indianapolis after a conference with Gov. Ed. Jackson, virtually all non-union mines in the southern Indiana coal field were reported to be operating at full blast today.

No trouble was reported and none was expected, according to the county authorities and leading operators, all of whom denied requesting troops.

The guard units included a full chemical warfare company of Indianapolis and Greensburg detachments and an airplane squad from the national guard headquarters at Kokomo. The airman will act as scouts.

The two infantry units carried a full supply of chemical weapons and rifles. A large quantity of tear gas bombs was available for use if needed.

Six other companies were ready, within a radius of 25 miles of the coal fields, for instant service in the event any emergency arose.

Ten mines in Vanderburg and Warrick counties were operating on a non-union basis before the recent riots that followed efforts of union men to unionize the mines, resulting in the closing down of all except two of the mines. These two—the Crescent and Sunnyside mines on the outskirts of Evansville—were unable to continue under protection of heavily armed sheriffs, deputies and police.

Laura Christy Sane

The murder charge, which, was filed in municipal court here by Chief of Police Hugh J. McDermott after Mrs. Christy was arrested as a suspect in the death of her eighth husband, still hangs over her head. However, the case has not been considered by the grand jury which does not meet until April.

Mrs. Christy has been under close observation since her arrival at the Lima institution, according to Dr. Clark.

Because many of her teeth are loose, it is planned to extract them, the superintendent said. Upon completion of this dental work, she will be assigned work in the hospital laundry. Since her confinement, Mrs. Christy, according to Dr. Clark, has reiterated her confession of administering arsenic to her late husband, but she repudiated her story of giving poison to Ebert. She also denied that other husbands who are dead, were victims of foul play.

Coolidge Opposes Great American Air Fleet, Callers Told

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—President Coolidge is opposed to the construction of a great American air fleet because he believes that to do so would encourage other nations to do likewise, and thus lead impetus to a new armament race, he told callers at the White House today.

The president believes that the passage of legislation incorporating the recommendations of the Morrow board will remedy most of the shortcomings in the present air establishment.

Omaha's Contessed 'Phantom Killer,' Is Victim of Paresis

Physician Says Slayer Will Not Live Long and Will go Insane Before he Dies.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 23.—Dr. F. S. Lovely, who examined Frank Carter, 46, of Ackley, Ia., Omaha's confessed "phantom killer," this morning said the man was a victim of paresis, which is the last stage of a social disease. Carter would not live long and will go insane before he dies, said Dr. Lovely.

Carter was today regretting his carelessness in retaining the leather jacket which led to his capture yesterday afternoon at Bartlett, Ia.

In a statement covering more than a score of pages, the man held for the deaths of two men, the serious wounding of a third, the frightening of a girl when he shot through a window into a drug store, and the terrorizing of two cities for many nights, detailed his shooting and motives, according to Henry Beal, county attorney.

The killing of Dr. A. D. Searles, according to the statement, was because the physician would not give him money. William L. McDevitt, dairyman, was shot to death on the street two weeks ago because Carter, his statement said, feared McDevitt was after him, and the same reason was given for the shooting in Council Bluffs of Ross Johnston, railroad detective.

Carter fired into various homes and the drug store, the statement said, so he would confine his search to one neighborhood until he got clear of Omaha. In this he was successful.

Carter was not entirely clear as to his motives but said the terrorizing was the climax of a "career of crime." He is to be questioned more closely today.

In the meantime, the town of Bartlett is holding a virtual holiday. W. C. Bruce, railroad section foreman, as chief hero. Bruce and several others will share in the rewards offered for the "phantom sniper."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The week-end reports of uncertainty and hesitation in various lines of business produced a similar feeling in the speculative markets today, and price trends were decidedly mixed in the first two hours of trading. The oil stocks, tobaccos and motors started the new week at a slightly higher price range, reflecting the influx of some week-end buying orders. Nash Motors in its new form sold up to 66, equivalent to 660 on the old stock, against Saturday's close at 645, Sinclair Oil and the Standard Oils made fractional advances in continuation of their forward move and tobacco stocks moved up a point or two.

Weakness soon developed in Pan-American Petroleum, B. American Woolen and other stocks which yielded to the more readily last week.

Selling pressure increased in the second hour and prices were a shade lower in the active industrials and motor shares, United States Steel, American Can and other speculative leaders registered their best prices at the opening, after which declines ranged from 1 to 3 points. Alleged Rum Ring And Jury Tampering Probes Under Way

CLEVELAND, Feb. 23.—The federal grand jury will reconvene at 1:30 p. m. today to resume its probes into the alleged $140,000,000 nation wide rum syndicate, and the alleged jury tampering in the six trials of Josiah Kirby, recently convicted financier. The probes have no relation with each other.

It was regarded as improbable that indictments would be returned before tomorrow. A roll call of witnesses occupied the attention of federal officers during the forenoon. More than 125 witnesses were called.

United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen, who is conducting the investigation into the operation of the alleged gigantic rum ring, announced today that he had not completed drawing up the first indictments in the case. It was reported that the first true bill would contain the names of more than 100 persons in many cities.

58 CONVERTS AT M. E. CHURCH

Class Received Into Membership as Revival Closes.

A class of 58 persons were received into membership of the First Methodist Episcopal church in connection with the three-week series of evangelistic services which closed Sunday evening, it was announced today. Others will be admitted later, probably bringing the total up to 80.

The organization formed during the revivals will continue to do personal work until Easter, when there will be another service for the reception of new members. The evangelist meetings were gratifying, large crowds being in attendance at all services. One of the outstanding features was the part taken by the young people.

Prof. Charles Weland, Aurora, Ill., evangelistic singer, who assisted in the campaign, has gone to Buffalo, N. Y., where he will arrange for union church work this spring. He will assist in revivals to be held in Alliance on March 6 and on March 23 will go to Uhrichsville for a series of services.

Members of the choir which took an active part in the campaign have pledged themselves to attend the mid-week prayer service tomorrow evening and every prayer service until Easter. Prof. H. F. Laughlin will direct the music. A sermon appropriate to the Lenten season will be delivered by Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor of the church.

Keith Vaudeville Bill Scores Hit At Strand Theatre

Manager Smith has booked an exceptional bill for the Strand theatre this week, marking the beginning of Keith vaudeville and feature pictures. The bill for the first three days of the week is headed by the Kitaros Trio, three Japs in a foot balancing act, that scored heavily with both the afternoon and evening crowds.

Dan Coleman, assisted by Alma Bauer and Al Dwinell, offer a comedy act with some singing that goes over big. Coleman, a former burlesque star, keeps the house in an uproar.

Thomas and the Frederick Sisters, appearing in a song and dance revue, and Carmen and Rose, billed as "three hundred pounds of laughter," are the other two acts.

In addition to the vaudeville, a two-reel comedy and a late release photoplay, featuring Mac Murray and Francis X. Bushman in "The Masked Bride," are offered.

Under the new policy at the Strand, matinee performance starts at 2:15, while the evening performance begins at 6:45. The vaudeville performance opens at 7 o'clock followed by movies at 8 o'clock. The second show in the evening is billed for 9 o'clock.

The bill will be changed on Thursday for the last three days of the week.

FRUIT GROWERS PLAN BUSY YEAR

Additional Acreage to be Set Out on New Road Route.

With the ultimate improvement of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road, coupled with the surfacing of the East Palestine-East Liverpool road, the eastern township will become the greatest small fruit and garden truck growing districts in Columbiana county. It has been pointed out by leaders of the Columbiana County Farm bureau.

While parts of St. Clair and Middleton townships have always been active in the culture of small fruits, additional acreage is to be set out this year, and there will also be noted an increase in the production of vegetables.

Several farmers now propose to begin the growing of asparagus this season, and probably 50 acres will be set out. It will be a production but the growers are determined to have this production when the two inter-county highways are opened to traffic.

Trustees of Middleton and St. Clair townships are vitally interested in the surfacing of the East Palestine-East Liverpool road, which road is in the very heart of the small fruit section of the county. In past years the bulk of the fruit grown in Middleton township has been trucked either to the Youngstown or Pittsburgh market, while the East Liverpool and Salem markets have been passed by.

BANKING CASE BEFORE COURT

Highest Tribunal Hears Arguments on Benwood Institution.

CHARLESTON W. Va., Feb. 23.—Arguments were to be heard today by the state supreme court on the writ of prohibition which that body recently granted against Judge P. D. Morris, in the case of the wrecked bank of Benwood, W. Va.

This action is outgrowth of a suit brought by Jacob Milbaugh against State Banking Commissioner Abbott and Receiver Picklesimer, in charge of closing up affairs of the bank, to bring to light details of the transactions over a period of 17 years that ended in the wrecking of the bank.

It is alleged that during the period when irregular transactions are said to have been going on, the bank was examined at least 34 times by the state banking department, the body that ordered closing of the bank and now is in charge of its affairs, pronouncing it sound at each examination.

Shortage already found on the books of the bank, according to Daniel W. Quinn, expert accountant, is $614,933.49, and probably will reach a million dollars.

Some of the legal points involved in the writ of prohibition against Judge Morris never have been passed upon by the courts in this state.

MINSTREL CAST IS ANNOUNCED

Firemen's Annual Show Will be Given Here Tomorrow Night.

Annual minstrel show under the auspices of the Chester fire department will be staged tomorrow night in the Chester theatre with a large cast under the direction of William Stevenson and Austin A. Bolles. William McKinney will be the interlocutor.

First part will be a minstrel with Percy Willison, Lon Allison, Any Bair, Kenneth Martin, L. L. Smith and Dever Dewell, as end men. Members of the cast are Bernard Poole, J. C. Johnston, C. G. Woods, G. W. Morris, E. J. Miller, Ray Hulse, C. L. Laughley, Joe Davis, W. E. Haney, C. Durbin, L. W. Bird, Pal Brant, Harry Hoy, Okey Talbott, Homer Mercer, R. A. Mercer, E. V. Wehner, R. A. Douglass, G. C. Hobbs, Earl Haney, Thelma Swearingen, Justine Simpson, Sara Mercer, Mary Springer, Arminta Merschrod, Mary Skinner, Wilma Pugh, Martha Bartley, Ethel Smith, Doris Poole, Mary McKinney, Brant, Elizabeth Davis, Twyla Hissam, Kathryn Bloor, Mary Parker, Elinor Lowary, Eunice McDonald and Pieta McMillan.

The second part will be featured by a number of sketches, vocal and instrumental selections by members of the cast. The production will be repeated Thursday evening.

Why have BOILS?

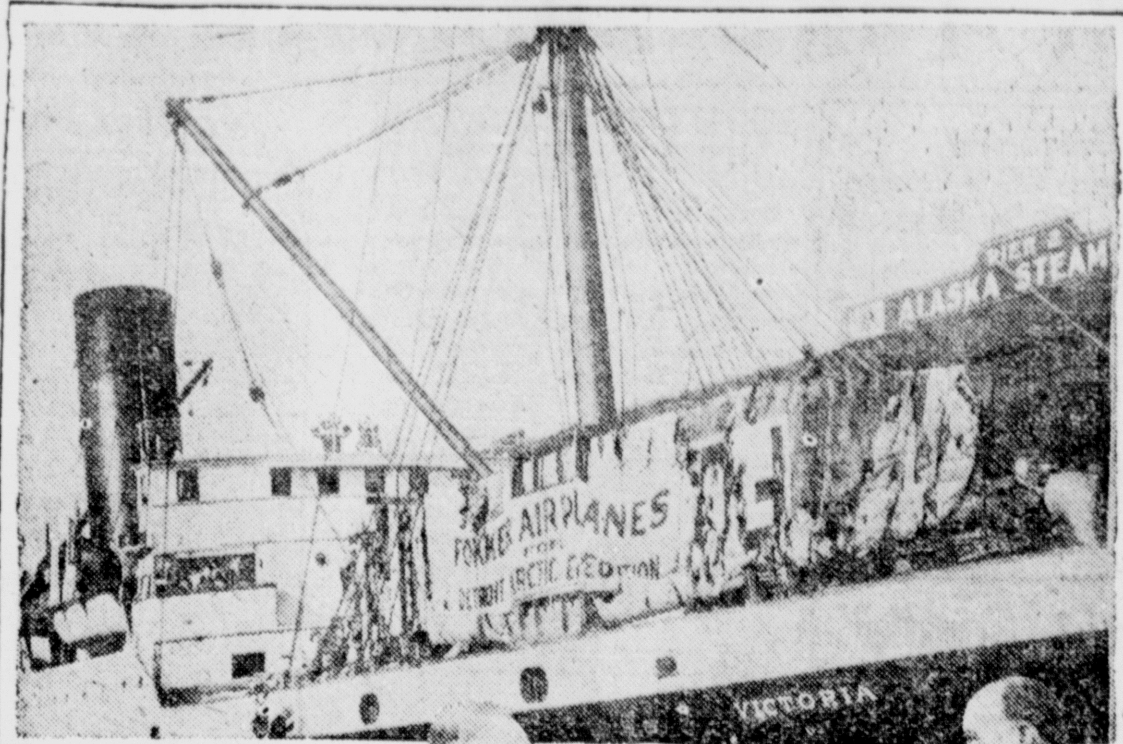

Boils and pure, rich, red blood never go together. They simply won't mix, any more than oil and water. Healthy blood dries these pests right up!

That's the reason S. S. S. drives agonizing boils completely out of the system. There's not a chance for a boil, or any other breaking out on the skin, when pure blood, full of red cells is rushing through your system.

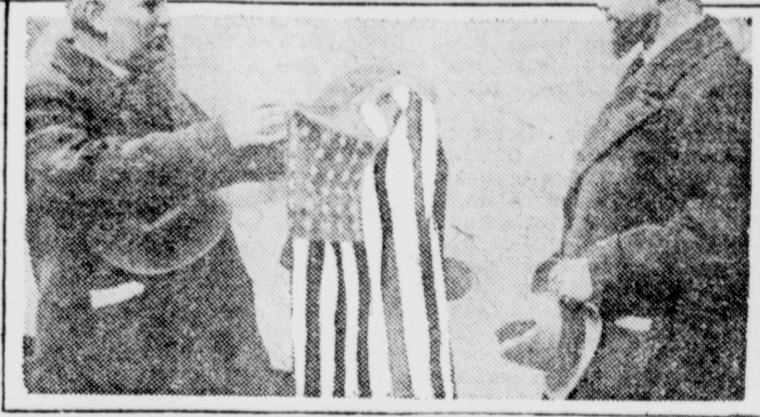

And that's what S. S. S. does. Builds up the red blood. Puts red cells in the millions back in the blood-stream. S. S. S. makes the blood so strong in healthy, red-blood-cells that painful, torturous boils—disfiguring pimples, blackheads and blotches—itching, burning eczema and rashes and other embarrassing skin eruptions simply get out.

It's a fact. S. S. S. has been doing the very thing for 100 years. You can get S. S. S. from any druggist. So, why have boils? Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

BANKING CASE BEFORE COURT

Highest Tribunal Hears Arguments on Benwood Institution.

CHARLESTON W. Va., Feb. 23.—Arguments were to be heard today by the state supreme court on the writ of prohibition which that body recently granted against Judge P. D. Morris, in the case of the wrecked bank of Benwood, W. Va.

This action is outgrowth of a suit brought by Jacob Milbaugh against State Banking Commissioner Abbott and Receiver Picklesimer, in charge of closing up affairs of the bank, to bring to light details of the transactions over a period of 17 years that ended in the wrecking of the bank.

It is alleged that during the period when irregular transactions are said to have been going on, the bank was examined at least 34 times by the state banking department, the body that ordered closing of the bank and now is in charge of its affairs, pronouncing it sound at each examination.

Shortage already found on the books of the bank, according to Daniel W. Quinn, expert accountant, is $614,933.49, and probably will reach a million dollars.

Some of the legal points involved in the writ of prohibition against Judge Morris never have been passed upon by the courts in this state.

Tiger Flowers Will Take Shot At Greb's Title Friday

Colored Star Ready For Ring After Two Month's Solid Rest

Few Gotham Critics Feel That Middleweight Champion Will be in for a Tough Night, Although Greb, in Any Kind of Condition, Figures to Beat Rival the Best Day the Latter Ever Knew.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Several of the boys in the back room either have come into an item of smart information or they have taken to mixing their paws again.

Anyhow, one or two of our leading local minds took occasion today to drop a polite hint to the general effect that it might not go well with Harry Greb on Friday night when he steps out in defense of his world's title against Tiger Flowers, the negro.

This would come under the general head of good, clean fun if it wasn't for the fact that its authors are what is known as "straight men." As far as they and Longfellow are concerned, life is real and life is earnest, only more so.

Just what signs or portents may have prompted them to fear the worst for Harry, the deponent knoweth not, but the advance facts on the bout are approximately these:

Greb, in any kind of good condition, figures to beat Tiger Flowers the best day the latter ever knew. There is no data available that tends to show that Greb will not be right on Friday.

Flowers, judged by his last showing here, has even less chance against the champion than he would have had 15 months ago. He was short-changed out of the decision on the occasion in question, but the Tiger didn't deserve too much, at that. It appeared that he had seen better days, starting with and dating back from the successive home runs Jack Delaney knocked over the right field fence, with the almost unwarranted use of the Tiger's chin.

However, the negro had barnstormed himself silly when last seen here. He has been resting for almost two months, passing up bouts that would have netted him $25,000, which is in the nature of rather serious money. It is about twice as much as he will get for fighting Greb. This seems a bit significant, it being apparent that Flowers' manager believes his man to be something of a "sleeper" for this particular bout.

Against a hard hitter, the Tiger could not be reckoned as being particularly dangerous because he has a weak jaw. But Greb, ordinarily, has a weak punch, so that's all even. At least, this is the way our friends in the back room figure it.

They also are at some pains to point out that Greb respects Flowers' ability, but the writer sees no reason to count this fact as being in the Tiger's favor. If Greb is to be knocked off at all, it is likely to be done by some sap whom he holds in very light esteem.

Of course, this business of calling the turn on Greb has been going on since Munyon raised his index finger. All the boys have to do, therefore, is to keep on calling and ultimately they will be substantiated in full. Greb is well over 31 and has been fighting since 1913. He trains little or not at all. Yes, the boys are bound to be right some time. All they need is plenty of calls and enough turns. The next one might do as well as any.

AVENUE FIVE WINS FROM M.E.'S

Presbyterians Lose to Baptists by Forfeit Route.

The Pennsylvania Avenue quint earned a 29 to 26 decision over the Methodists and the Baptists were awarded a forfeit from the Presbyterians in games last night in the Sunday School league.

The Avenue lads held the Presbyterians even all the way, the half score being 17-17. McKim's eight field goals contributed materially to the victory.

Only three members of the Presbyterian five appeared for their game with the Baptists and, as a result, the latter advanced a notch by the forfeit route. Later in the evening, several of the Presbyterian players appeared and in an exhibition game, lost to the Baptists by a 26-22 count.

Sisler Called Baseball Slicker; Puts Over Good Pitching Trades

Takes Title to Four Pitchers While Giving Away One in Two Winter Deals.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 22.—First thing you know, this man Sisler will go down on the lower East Side and start selling hair restorer to the Russians. He seems to be that kind of a city slicker.

A trifle more than a year ago, when George was just a young fellow trying to get along, he held earnest converse with our Mr. Huggins, as a result of which Urban Shocker went to the Yankees. Bush, Girard and Gaston went to the Browns and some of our despondent citizens went to the river. George got the newspaper decision over Mr. Huggins on this occasion without a dissenting vote.

That was his first big trade. His second was swung a few weeks ago when he sent Bush and Johnny Tobin to Washington for Tom Zachary and Vic Ballou. This one may or may not turn out to be a good fast draw, but that is a minor consideration.

The big point is that Sisler, in two deals, has taken title to four pitchers for one. He merely gave away Shocker and, darling, he is growing old. In return, he has Gaston, Girard, Zachary and Ballou, the latter being the only member of the quartet who has yet to prove that he belongs.

The writer maintains that that is smart trading, regardless of whether

Washington or St. Louis benefits most by the last trade. Sisler needed pitchers. He got more than a few. The net result is that plenty of able citizens are picking the Browns to run not worse than second in the American league this year.

The key-men in the recent deal, as the writer sees it, are Tobin and Ballou. Bush and Zachary should prove about a stand-off, although we are inclined to feel that Bush may stake himself to a final fling in 1926 before calling it a career. When both were good, Bush was a better pitcher than Zachary.

As for Tobin, he was a great outfielder until last season when his work fell away almost simultaneously with the rise of Harry Rice. In consequence, Tobin was of no particular value to the Browns. This, by the way, has been one of the features of Sisler's trading to date. He never gives away a player until he can spare him. Shocker had outlasted his welcome in St. Louis some time before the Yankee deal transpired.

Tobin, like Bush, may have one good year left in him. The chances favor it because veterans seem to thrive under Stanley Harris' direction. Ballou did some impressive pinch-pitching in the last world series. At one critical stage, he was rushed in from the bullpen to face Traynor and Wright with a couple of men on, one out and the Pirates needing a run to tie. He fanned the dangerous Traynor on three pitched balls, got two strikes on Wright and on the next pitch forced him to ground out.

In the sixth game, he pitched the ninth inning, passing the first man to face him and retiring the next three in order.

If these performances were at all typical of the young man's ability, Sisler has picked up a live one.

CAMELS VICTORS IN CLOSE GAME

You've got the goods, Prince Albert

DON'T I know? Didn't I cross the burning sands in search of pipe-contentment? And then you loomed up, like an oasis in the Desert of Doubt. Cool and refreshing, you were, Prince Albert. I'll never forget that first meeting.

Why, you just had everything I wanted in a pipe tobacco. You came zooming up the stem like a breeze through the date palms. You were fragrant as frankincense. You were friendly to my tongue and throat, refusing to mistreat them.

You're still sheik of the smoke-tribe,

Prince Albert. I'm FOR you a hundred per cent. You and my trusty jimmy-pipe go with me everywhere, smoothing out the wrinkles in the roadway of life. The tongue you've been so kind to will always speak a good word in return.

Maybe there are some other chaps roaming the hot-pipe desert, at the mercy of the bedouins of bite and the pirates of parch. I hope they are listening in. I'm putting on all the power I've got to tell them what a lot of comfort is waiting for them in the tidy red tins marked "Prince Albert."

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P.A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Negro in Africa Seeks Better Food, Schools British Report Shows

LONDON.—The dusky African savage, as beloved by the writers of the world's best sellers, is now no more. The African negro of today is a semi-civilized, hard-working, and law-abiding citizen, and no longer does he abduct white men and women, steal other people's cattle, and generally make war on civilization.

This was revealed today in a report published by the British government on behalf of the local government of Kenya Colony, a British West African possession, showing the changes which have taken place in the conditions of life in those parts during recent years.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

What do you need to know? Is there some point about your business or personal life that puzzles you? Is there something you want to know without delay? Submit your question to Frederic J. Haskin, Director of our Washington Information Bureau. He is employed to help you. Address your inquiry to The East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C., and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

Q. Which authors lead as the "best sellers?" P. T. F.

A. The list of favorite authors is too long to admit of complete reproduction. One recent compilation names Winston Churchill as leading, followed by Harold Bell Wright, Booth Tarkington, George Barr McCutcheon, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Zane Grey, Gene Stratton Porter, Eleanor H. Porter, William J. Locke, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Gilbert Parker, and Rex Beach in the order named.

Q. Is the hardening of copper a lost art? K. C. L.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that hardening copper is no secret from present day metallurgists, any of whom can produce an edged tool of hardened copper as good as any made in prehistoric times. Copper is not used for such tools because of the great superiority of steel.

Q. How many species of birds are there? H. B. W.

A. The Biological Survey says that there are 800 species of birds and 1200 sub-species.

Q. What is the lowest temperature ever actually measured? B. W.

A. It appears to be the reading of a thermometer of 133 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, obtained with a registering balloon at Batavia, Java, in 1913. The height at which this temperature was recorded is uncertain.

Q. Why is the pool in a poker game called a kitty? M. E. H.

A. The probable origin of the term is the old fashioned kist from which we get our modern word chest. A money box was a kist, so came the pool in a poker game to be called the kist, then the kit, and finally, kitty.

Q. What were the soubriquets of President Johnson, Arthur and Cleveland? M. G.

A. President Johnson was sometimes spoken of as "Sir Veto," Arthur, "America's First Gentleman" and "Our Chet," and Cleveland, the "Man of Destiny."

Q. How many National Parks are there? H. A. R.

A. There are 19, with a total area of 11,372 square miles, including Hot Springs (Arkansas), Yellowstone, Sequoia, Glacier, Grand Canyon and others. There are 7 national military, etc., parks under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of War including Chickamauga and Chattanooga, Gettysburg, Shiloh, Lincoln's birthplace, and others. Also a large number of so-called national monuments including Devil's Tower (Wyoming), Montezuma Castle (Arizona), Petrified Forest (Arizona), Chaco Canyon (New Mexico) and others.
